PUBLIC SERVICE ACT 1996

[as amended by all amendments that commenced on or before 11 April 1997]

An Act about the administration of the public service and the management and employment of public service employees, and for other purposes

PART 1—PRELIMINARY

Short title

1. This Act may be cited as the Public Service Act 1996.

Commencement

2. This Act commences on a day to be fixed by proclamation.

Main objects

3. The main objects of this Act are—
 - (a) to establish the public service as an apolitical entity responsive to Government needs and competent to provide services in a professional and non-partisan way; and
 - (b) to provide for the administration of the public service and the management and employment of public service employees; and
 - (c) to provide for the appointment of a public service commissioner and the functions and powers of the commissioner; and
 - (d) to promote among public service employees a spirit of service to the community; and
 - (e) to provide principles on which departments are to be administered; and

- (f) to maintain integrity and appropriate standards of conduct for public service employees; and
- (g) to state the rights and obligations of public service employees.

Dictionary

- 4. The dictionary in schedule 3 defines particular words used in this Act.¹

PART 2—QUEENSLAND PUBLIC SERVICE

Division 1—Basic concepts

The public service

- 5. The Queensland Public Service consists of the persons who are employed under this Act (“public service employees”).

Employment of public service employees

- 6. Public service employees are employed in departments or public service offices.

Words defined elsewhere in the Act are generally signposted by entries in the dictionary. However, if a section has a definition applying only to the section, or a part of the section, it is generally not signposted by an entry in the dictionary and is generally set out in the last subsection of the section.

Signpost definitions in the dictionary alert the reader to the terms defined elsewhere in the Act and tell the reader where the definitions can be found. For example, the definition ‘ “public service officer” see section 8.’ tells the reader there is a definition of public service officer in the section.

What are “departments” and “public service offices”

7.(1) A “department” is an entity declared under this Act² to be a department of government.

(2) A “public service office” is an entity declared under this Act³ to be a public service office.

Who is a “public service officer”

8. A person is a “public service officer” if the person is employed under this Act as—

- (a) a chief executive; or
- (b) a senior executive, other than a chief executive; or
- (c) an officer, other than a senior executive.⁴

Who is a “public service employee”

9. A person is a “public service employee” if the person is employed under this Act as—

- (a) a public service officer; or
- (b) a general employee;⁵ or
- (c) a temporary employee.⁶

Application of Act to various types of employees etc.

10.(1) This Act mainly applies to public service officers.

² See section 12 for the declaration of departments. See also section 13 (Establishment of departments etc.).

³ See section 17. See also schedule 1 for a list of public service offices and their heads.

⁴ See sections 47 (Appointment of chief executives), 60 (Appointment of senior executives) and 67 (Appointment of officers).

⁵ See section 112 (Employment of general employees).

⁶ See section 113 (Employment of temporary employees).

(2) However, some provisions of this Act expressly apply to all public service employees.

(3) Also, a provision of this Act may expressly apply to, or may be applied to⁷—

- (a) a general or temporary employee; or
- (b) an employee of a public sector unit⁸ that is not a department or public service office.

Act does not apply to certain offices and employment

11.(1) This Act does not apply to an office if—

- (a) appointments to the office are made by the Governor alone; or
- (b) the salary for the office is fixed under the Judges (Salaries and Allowances) Act 1967;⁹ or
- (c) the office is a particular office established by an Act that expressly provides for the appointment of the holder of an office mentioned in paragraph (b); or
- (d) the office is honorary.

(2) In addition, this Act does not apply to the employment of a person as associate to a Supreme Court judge, District Court judge or industrial commissioner.

(3) Subsection (1) does not prevent the holder of an office mentioned in it from having or exercising powers under this Act.

⁷ See section 22 (Application of Act to certain public sector units etc.) and section 114 (Application of Act to general and temporary employees).

⁸ For the meaning of public sector unit, see section 20.

⁹ The Judges (Salaries and Allowances) Act 1967 provides for the fixing of the salaries of Supreme Court judges, District Court judges, industrial commissioners, Land Court members, magistrates and mining wardens.

Division 2—Departments of governmentDeclaration of departments

12.(1) The departments of government are the entities declared to be departments of government by the Governor in Council by gazette notice.

(2) A department of government includes the entities declared to be part of the department by the Governor in Council by gazette notice.

Establishment of departments etc.

13. The Governor in Council may, by gazette notice—

- (a) establish a department or another government entity;¹⁰ or
- (b) amalgamate government entities; or
- (c) add a government entity to a department or another government entity; or
- (d) divide a department or another government entity; or
- (e) name or rename a department or another government entity; or
- (f) abolish a department or another government entity.

Declaration of functions of departments etc.

14. The Governor in Council may, by gazette notice, declare the functions that—

- (a) are to be the functions of a department or another government entity; or
- (b) are included or not included in the functions of a department or another government entity.

Giving functions to departments etc.

15. The Governor in Council may, by gazette notice—

¹⁰ For the meaning of government entity, see section 21.

- (a) give a function to a department or another government entity; or
- (b) change or discontinue a function given to a department or another government entity; or
- (c) transfer a function given to a department or another government entity to a different government entity.

Other provisions about gazette notice

16.(1) The Governor in Council may, by gazette notice or regulation, prescribe anything necessary or convenient to be prescribed—

- (a) to enable a gazette notice to be made under this division; or
- (b) for carrying out or giving effect to a gazette notice made under this division; or
- (c) because of the making of a gazette notice under this division.

(2) The Governor in Council may do anything else the Governor in Council considers necessary or convenient to be done—

- (a) to enable a gazette notice to be made under this division; or
- (b) for carrying out or giving effect to a gazette notice made under this division; or
- (c) because of the making of a gazette notice under this division.

Example of action for carrying out or giving effect to a gazette notice—

Transferring public service employees from a department to another department.

(3) Without limiting subsections (1) and (2), if a department or a part of a department is amalgamated with another department or a part of another department, all public service employees of the first department or the part of the first department become public service employees of the other department or the part of the other department, unless the Governor in Council otherwise decides.

(4) To remove any doubt, if another Act establishes a particular government entity as a separate entity or regulates the existence of an entity as a government entity, it is declared that a gazette notice under this division can not have any effect on the separate existence of the entity.

Division 3—Public service offices

Public service offices

17. Each entity specified in schedule 1, column 1 is a public service office.

Heads of public service offices

18. The “head” of a public service office is the person specified in schedule 1, column 2 opposite the name of the office.

Application of Acts to public service offices

19.(1) This Act and other Acts apply to a public service office and its public service employees as if—

- (a) the office were a department; and
- (b) the head of the office were the chief executive of the department.

(2) However, this section has no effect on the provision for accountable officers under the Financial Administration and Audit Act 1977, section 35.

(3) Without limiting subsection (1), the head of the public service office has all the functions and powers of the chief executive of a department in relation to the office’s public service employees.

Division 4—Public sector units

What is a “public sector unit”

20. An entity is a “public sector unit” if it is—

- (a) a department or part of a department; or
- (b) a public service office or part of a public service office; or
- (c) another government entity declared under a regulation to be a public sector unit.

What is a “government entity”

- (c) an agency, authority, commission, corporation, instrumentality, office, or other entity, established under an Act or under State authorisation for a public or State purpose; or

- (e) another entity, or part of another entity, declared under a regulation to be a government entity.
- (f) a registry or other administrative office of a court of the State of any jurisdiction.

(2) However, each of the following entities is not a “government entity”—

- (b) the parliamentary service;
- (c) the Governor’s official residence (known as ‘Government House’) and its associated administrative unit;
- (d) the Executive Council;
- (e) the Legislative Assembly;

- (a) a government entity declared under a regulation to be a public sector unit;¹¹ or
- (b) an employee of a public sector unit who is not a public service employee.

(2) The provision applies—

- (a) in the way prescribed under a regulation; and
- (b) with all necessary changes and any changes prescribed under a regulation.

(3) A regulation may prescribe anything necessary or convenient to be prescribed—

- (a) to enable a regulation to be made under subsection (1) or (2); or
- (b) for carrying out or giving effect to a regulation made under subsection (1) or (2); or
- (c) because of the making of a regulation under subsection (1) or (2), including the portability of employment rights and entitlements.

(4) However, a regulation can not reduce an employee's remuneration.

(5) Subsection (4) does not apply to a reduction arising out of a change in the person's employment sought by the person.

(6) In this section—

“remuneration” means total remuneration including entitlements.

Examples—

1. A regulation under subsection (1)(a) may apply section 79(3)¹² to a stated public sector unit “x”.

A regulation under subsection (2) of this section may provide that section 79(3) applies to x as if—

- (a) x were a department; and

¹¹ For the declaration of entities, see section 20(c).

¹² Section 79 (Transfer of officers)

Public Service Act 1996

(b) the chairperson of x were the chief executive of the department.

Under section 79(3) as applied to x, an officer of a department could then be transferred to x.

Finally, a regulation under subsection (3) of this section may provide that an officer transferred under applied section 79(3) has service with the public service recognised as if it were service with x for long service leave, recreation leave and sick leave purposes.

2. A regulation under subsection (1)(b) may apply section 79(3) to a stated class of employees of a public sector unit “y”.

A regulation under subsection (2) of this section may provide that section 79(3) applies to the employees as if—

- (a) y were a department; and
- (b) the employees were public service officers; and
- (c) the chairperson of y were the chief executive of the department.

Under section 79(3) as applied to the employees, an employee of y could then be transferred to a department.

Finally, a regulation under subsection (3) of this section may provide that an employee transferred under applied section 79(3) has service with y recognised as if it were service in the public service for long service leave, recreation leave and sick leave purposes.

PART 3—PRINCIPLES OF PUBLIC SERVICE MANAGEMENT AND EMPLOYMENT

23. Public service management is to be directed towards—

- (e) providing public service employees with safe and healthy working conditions; and
- (f) giving public service employees reasonable access to appropriate training and development; and
- (g) remunerating public service employees at rates appropriate to the responsibilities undertaken by public service employees; and
- (h) avoiding nepotism and patronage.

¹³ See section 78 (Selection for appointment to be on merit).

Principles of work performance and personal conduct

25. In recognition that public service employment involves a public trust, a public service employee's work performance and personal conduct must be directed towards—

- (a) achieving excellence in service delivery; and
- (b) ensuring the effective, efficient, economical and appropriate use of public resources; and
- (c) giving effect to Government policies and priorities; and
- (d) providing sound and impartial advice to the Government; and
- (e) improving all aspects of the employee's work performance; and
- (f) carrying out duties impartially and with integrity; and
- (g) observing all laws relevant to the employment; and
- (h) ensuring that the employee's personal conduct does not reflect adversely on the reputation of the public service.

Additional principle of senior executive service employment

26. Employment in the senior executive service is to be directed towards ensuring that senior executives—

- (a) develop a public service wide perspective; and
- (b) continue their executive development; and
- (c) develop their skills through their deployment within and outside the public service.

PART 4—ADMINISTRATION OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE

Division 1—Premier’s supervision

Premier’s role in relation to public service

27.(1) The Premier has the following functions—

- (a) to promote the overall effectiveness, efficiency and economy of the public service;
- (b) to assess the effectiveness, efficiency, economy and appropriateness of management in the public service, and in particular departments or parts of departments;
- (c) to advise departmental Ministers about steps that should be taken to improve public service effectiveness, efficiency and economy.

(2) Subsection (1) does not limit the functions the Premier has apart from this section, or require the Premier to carry out any particular action.

Obtaining reports about principles of management and employment

28.(1) The Premier may require the chief executive of a department to give the Premier a report about specified aspects of the department’s application of the principles of public service management and employment stated in part 3.

(2) The report must be given to the Premier within the time the Premier requires.

Management reviews

29.(1) The Premier may authorise a person (the “authorised person”) to conduct a review of functions or activities of a public sector unit.

(2) Before or after authorising a person to conduct the review, the Premier may—

- (a) inform the departmental Minister and the chief executive of the

Public Service Act 1996

- public sector unit about the review; and
- (b) give the chief executive an opportunity to nominate a stated number of employees of the public sector unit to take part in the review.
- (3) The authorised person—
- (a) must produce the person's authority if asked by someone concerned in the review; and
- (b) may, for the purpose of conducting the review—
- (i) enter official premises of the public sector unit at any reasonable time; and
- (ii) require the production of, examine, copy, or take an extract from, any official document in the possession of the public sector unit; and
- (iii) interview employees of the public sector unit; and
- (iv) interview anyone else who can provide information relevant to the review; and
- (c) must give the Premier a report on the review, including any findings or recommendations.

Example of another person who can provide information—

A client of services provided by the public sector unit.

(4) The chief executive of the public sector unit and every other employee of a public sector unit must give to the authorised person the help the person reasonably requires to conduct the review.

(5) Without limiting subsection (4), the authorised person may require an employee of a public sector unit to answer any question relevant to the review.

(6) However, the employee need not answer the question if—

- (a) the employee objects to answering the question because answering it might tend to incriminate the employee of a criminal offence; and
- (b) the employee would have a claim of privilege against self-incrimination in relation to a criminal offence if the employee

were asked the question in a Supreme Court action.

(7) The Premier may give a copy of the report to the departmental Minister and chief executive, and anyone else the Premier considers appropriate.

(8) This section does not prevent the Premier from authorising a single review for 2 or more public sector units.

(9) In this section—

“official document in the possession of the public sector unit” includes an official document—

- (a) under its control or to which it is entitled to access, whether or not created in the public sector unit; and
- (b) in the possession, or under the control, of an employee of the public sector unit in the employee’s official capacity.

Regulation of numbers of public service employees

30.(1) The Premier may, by gazette notice, fix the maximum number of public service employees (other than senior executives) that may be employed in a department.

(2) The maximum number fixed must be the number the Premier considers necessary for the effective, efficient, economical and appropriate performance of the department’s functions.

(3) The maximum number must be calculated in the way the Premier directs in the notice.

Example—

The Premier may direct that the maximum number must be calculated on the basis of full-time equivalents.

(4) The Premier must give a copy of the notice to—

- (a) the Treasurer; and
- (b) if the Premier or Treasurer is not the departmental Minister—the departmental Minister; and
- (c) the chief executive of the department.

(5) The chief executive of the department must ensure that the notice is not contravened.

Premier may direct action about surplus public service employees

31. If the Premier is satisfied that a department employs more public service employees than it needs for the effective, efficient, economical and appropriate performance of its functions, the Premier may direct the chief executive of the department to take action in accordance with rulings of the commissioner.

Division 2—Public service commissioner

The commissioner and office

- 32.(1) There is to be a Public Service Commissioner.
- (2) An office called the Office of the Public Service is established.

(3) In this section—

“prescribed remuneration” means the remuneration prescribed under a directive.

²⁷ Section 94(1)(a) is about decisions to take, or not take, action under a directive.

²⁸ Section 94(1)(b) is about disciplinary decisions.

(4) Before declining to hear an appeal under subsection (3)(b), the commissioner may ask the appellant to establish by oral or written submissions that the appellant has an arguable case for the appeal.

Appeal is by way of review

99.(1) The commissioner must decide an appeal by reviewing the decision appealed against.

(2) For an appeal against a decision about a promotion or disciplinary action, the commissioner must decide the appeal on the basis of the evidence available to the decision maker when the decision was made, unless the commissioner allows other evidence to be taken into account.

³⁰ Section 94(1)(a) is about decisions to take, or not take, action under a directive.

Commissioner's duties on appeal

100. In hearing and deciding an appeal, the commissioner must—

- (a) observe the principles of natural justice; and
- (b) act as quickly, and with as little formality and technicality, as is consistent with a fair and proper consideration of the issues.

Commissioner may decide procedures

101.(1) The commissioner—

- (a) is not bound by the rules of evidence; and
- (b) may inform himself or herself in the way, and to the extent, the commissioner considers appropriate; and
- (c) may decide the persons (other than the appellant) who are the parties to the appeal; and

Protective appeals

107.(1) An officer who is promoted in a department and who could have appealed against the promotion of someone else in the department or another department may appeal against the other promotion under a regulation or a directive of the commissioner.

(2) Subsection (1) applies even though the time within which the officer may appeal against the other promotion has expired.

(3) However, the commissioner may hear and decide the appeal only if the appeal against the officer's own promotion is allowed.

³¹ Section 95(4) is about decisions that can not be appealed against because the appeal would involve the commissioner or employees of the office of the public service, or a matter that has been heard by the Industrial Relations Commission.

PART 8—REMOVAL OF STATUTORY OFFICE HOLDERS WHO ARE TERM APPOINTEES

What is a “statutory office”

108.(1) A “statutory office” is an office established under an Act to which a person may only be appointed by the Governor in Council or a Minister.

(2) It is immaterial whether an appointment may only be made after a recommendation or other process.

Who is a “term appointee”

109.(1) A “term appointee” is a person appointed to a statutory office under an Act that provides the appointee holds the office for a term specified under the Act, in the appointment instrument or in another instrument.

(2) It is immaterial whether the office is held full-time or part-time.

(3) A person is not a term appointee because of appointment as any of the following—

- (a) the holder of an office under an Act that provides the holder may or must be removed from office following an address or resolution of the Legislative Assembly;
- (b) the Director of Public Prosecutions or Deputy Director of Public Prosecutions appointed under the Director of Public Prosecutions Act 1984;

(4) A person appointed to a statutory office is not a term appointee merely because, under an Act, the person stops holding the office on reaching a particular age.

Removal of term appointees

110.(1) The Governor in Council may remove a term appointee from office at any time.

(2) The Governor in Council may remove a term appointee from office under subsection (1) despite another Act or the conditions of the term appointee's appointment or contract of employment.

(3) This section does not stop removal of a term appointee apart from this section.

Example—

It is stated in another Act that a person holding a particular statutory office provided for by the Act may be removed from office for a list of reasons, for example, incompetence and the commission of an indictable offence. A person holding the office is a term appointee under this part. Therefore, a person holding the office may be removed from office not only under the Act mentioned, but also under this section.

Re-employment and other entitlements

111.(1) This section applies to a person removed from a statutory office under section 110.

(2) If the person, at the time of appointment to the statutory office or an earlier continuous appointment to the statutory office or another statutory office, was an officer who had been in continuous employment in the capacity of an officer for at least 5 years, the person is entitled to be employed in the way stated in subsection (3).

(3) The person is entitled to be employed as an officer—

- (b) on the remuneration to which the person would have been entitled if the person had continued in employment as an officer; and

(4) The commissioner has the function of identifying appropriate employment in which the person may be employed.

(5) The commissioner may direct a department's chief executive to employ the person, if the employment is in the chief executive's department.

(6) If the person is employed according to the person's entitlements under this section, the person is not entitled to compensation for being removed from the statutory office.

(7) Subsection (6) applies despite the conditions of the person's appointment or contract of employment as a term appointee.

(8) Apart from subsection (6), this part does not affect the person's right to claim compensation or other entitlements under the conditions of the person's appointment or contract of employment applying when the appointment or employment ends.

(9) The person may only claim under the conditions of the person's appointment or contract of employment compensation and other entitlements as if the person's appointment or employment had been terminated as permitted under the conditions or as if the person's term of office had ended.

(4) Without limiting subsection (2), awards and industrial agreements do not apply to an excluded person.

(5) A decision about an excluded matter can not be challenged, appealed against, reviewed, quashed, set aside, or called in question in another way, under the Judicial Review Act 1991.

(6) Subsection (5) does not apply to a decision about an officer who is employed on tenure and referred to in subsection (1), definition “excluded matter”, paragraph (a) or (b).
