Information about this reprint

This Act is reprinted as at 29 November 2004. The reprint shows the law as amended by all amendments that commenced on or before that day (Reprints Act 1992 s 5(c)).

The reprint includes a reference to the law by which each amendment was made—see list of legislation and list of annotations in endnotes. Also see list of legislation for any uncommenced amendments.

This page is specific to this reprint. See previous reprints for information about earlier changes made under the Reprints Act 1992. A table of reprints is included in the endnotes.

Also see endnotes for information about—

- when provisions commenced
- editorial changes made in earlier reprints.

Dates shown on reprints

Reprints dated at last amendment All reprints produced on or after 1 July 2002, hard copy and electronic, are dated as at the last date of amendment. Previously reprints were dated as at the date of publication. If a hard copy reprint is dated earlier than an electronic version published before 1 July 2002, it means the legislation was not further amended and the reprint date is the commencement of the last amendment.

If the date of a hard copy reprint is the same as the date shown for an electronic version previously published, it merely means that the electronic version was published before the hard copy version. Also, any revised edition of the previously published electronic version will have the same date as that version.

Replacement reprint date If the date of a hard copy reprint is the same as the date shown on another hard copy reprint it means that one is the replacement of the other.

DOMESTIC AND FAMILY VIOLENCE PROTECTION ACT 1989

[as amended by all amendments that commenced on or before 29 November 2004]

An Act to provide for protection to a person against violence committed or threatened by someone else if a spousal, intimate personal, family or informal care relationship exists between the persons

PART 1—PRELIMINARY

1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989.

2 Commencement

(1) Section 1 and this section shall commence on the day this Act is assented to for and on behalf of Her Majesty.

(2) Except as provided by subsection (1), the provisions of this Act shall commence on a day appointed by proclamation.

3 Definitions

The dictionary in the schedule defines particular words used in this Act.

3A Main purpose of Act

(1) The main purpose of this Act is to provide for the safety and protection of a person in the case of domestic violence committed by someone else if any of the following domestic relationships exist between the 2 persons—

- (a) a spousal relationship;
- (b) an intimate personal relationship;
- (c) a family relationship;
- (d) an informal care relationship.

(2) The way in which the main purpose of this Act is to be achieved is by allowing a court to make a domestic violence order to provide protection for the person against further domestic violence.

4 References to court and when justices may exercise power

(1) “Court” means—

- (a) if an application is made to a Magistrates Court—the Magistrates Court; or
- (b) if an application is made to a magistrate under section 54—the magistrate; or
- (c) if an offender pleads guilty or is found guilty in relation to an offence that involves domestic violence—the court before which the offender appears.

(2) A “Magistrates Court” means a court constituted by a magistrate but, subject to subsections (3) and (6), does not include a court constituted by justices who are not magistrates.

(3) If an application is made—

- (a) to make a domestic violence order in terms agreed to by, or on behalf of, an aggrieved and a respondent; or
- (b) to make or extend a temporary protection order and a magistrate is not readily available to constitute a Magistrates Court for the purpose; or
- (c) to adjourn proceedings taken with a view to the making of a domestic violence order against a respondent;

a Magistrates Court constituted by 2 or more justices may deal with the application.

(4) An order made, or action taken, under subsection (3) is a procedural order or action for the purposes of the Justices of the Peace and Commissioners for Declarations Act 1991.

(5) Subsection (6) applies if an offender appears in relation to an offence involving domestic violence at a place at which a Magistrates Court is being held before 2 or more justices appointed under section 552C(3) of the Criminal Code for the place and pleads guilty to the offence.¹

(6) The Magistrates Court, constituted by the justices exercising jurisdiction under section 552C(3) of the Criminal Code, may deal with an application for a domestic violence order, or make a domestic violence order on its own initiative, relating to the offence and for which the offender is the respondent.

5 Meaning of “possession”

(1) “Possession” of a weapon or thing includes—

- (a) having it in one’s custody; and
- (b) having it under one’s control in any place (whether or not another has custody of it); and
- (c) having an ability to obtain its custody at will; and
- (d) having a claim to its custody if the claimant has committed it to the custody of another, even though the weapon or thing is temporarily not in the control of the person having the claim.

(2) A respondent does not possess a weapon if the respondent has otherwise surrendered the weapon under the Weapons Act, section 29B.²

6 Meaning of “premises”

“Premises” includes any, or part of any, of the following (whether a public place or private property)—

- (a) an area of land (including a road within the meaning of the Transport Operations (Road Use Management) Act 1995);
- (b) a building or structure (whether movable or immovable), including a dwelling house;

1 Under section 552C(3) of the Criminal Code, the Attorney-General may by gazette notice appoint a justice for a place specified in the gazette notice.

2 Weapons Act, section 29B (Arrangements for surrender of suspended or revoked licences and weapons)

- (c) a vehicle, vessel or aircraft;
- (d) a caravan or trailer.

7 Meaning of “property”

“Property” of a person means property that—

- (a) the person owns; or
- (b) the person does not own, but—
 - (i) is used and enjoyed by the person; or
 - (ii) is available for the person’s use or enjoyment; or
 - (iii) is in the person’s care or custody; or
 - (iv) is at the premises at which the person is residing.

9 Meaning of court being satisfied

If a court is to be satisfied of a matter, the court need only be satisfied of the matter on the balance of probabilities.

PART 2—EXPLANATION OF HOW DOMESTIC VIOLENCE IS DEALT WITH UNDER THIS ACT

10 Purpose of this part

(1) This part explains how domestic violence is dealt with under this Act, including setting out some of the ideas and expressions that are important for an understanding of this Act.

(2) In particular, this part states what is domestic violence and the relationships that are protected by this Act.

11 What is domestic violence

(1) “Domestic violence” is any of the following acts that a person commits against another person if a domestic relationship exists between the 2 persons—

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (a) wilful injury;
- (b) wilful damage to the other person's property;

Example of paragraph (b)—

Wilfully injuring a defacto's pet.

- (c) intimidation or harassment of the other person;

Examples of paragraph (c)—

1. Following an estranged spouse when the spouse is out in public, either by car or on foot.
2. Positioning oneself outside a relative's residence or place of work.
3. Repeatedly telephoning an ex-boyfriend at home or work without consent (whether during the day or night).
4. Regularly threatening an aged parent with the withdrawal of informal care if the parent does not sign over the parent's fortnightly pension cheque.

- (d) indecent behaviour to the other person without consent;
- (e) a threat to commit an act mentioned in paragraphs (a) to (d).

(2) The person committing the domestic violence need not personally commit the act or threaten to commit it.³

11A Relationships that are domestic relationships for this Act

(1) Each of the following is a domestic relationship for this Act—

- (a) a spousal relationship;
- (b) an intimate personal relationship;
- (c) a family relationship;
- (d) an informal care relationship.

(2) Although a domestic relationship exists only between 2 persons, 1 aggrieved, or an authorised person for 1 aggrieved, may make an application for a protection order naming 1 respondent or more than 1 respondent.

³ See section 20(2)—

(2) A person who counsels or procures someone else to commit an act that, if done by the person, would be an act of domestic violence is taken to have committed the act.

12 What is a spousal relationship and who is a spouse

(1) A “spousal relationship” exists between spouses.

(2) A “spouse” includes—

- (a) a former spouse; and
- (b) either 1 of the biological parents of a child.

(3) For subsection (2)(b), it is irrelevant whether there is or was any relationship between the biological parents of the child.

12A What is an intimate personal relationship

(1) An “intimate personal relationship” exists between 2 persons if the persons are or were engaged to be married to each other, including a betrothal under cultural or religious tradition.

(2) Also, an “intimate personal relationship” exists between 2 persons, whether or not the relationship involves or involved a relationship of a sexual nature, if—

- (a) the persons date or dated each other; and
- (b) their lives are or were enmeshed to the extent that the actions of 1 of them affect or affected the actions or life of the other.

(3) In deciding whether an intimate personal relationship exists under subsection (2), a court may have regard to the following—

- (a) the circumstances of the relationship, including, for example, trust and commitment;
- (b) the length of time for which the relationship has existed or did exist;
- (c) the frequency of contact between the persons;
- (d) the level of intimacy between the persons.

(4) An intimate personal relationship may exist whether the 2 persons are the same or the opposite sex.

(5) The lives of 2 persons are not enmeshed merely because the persons date or dated each other on a number of occasions.

12B Meaning of “family relationship” and “relative”

(1) A “family relationship” exists between 2 persons if 1 of them is the relative of the other.

(2) A “relative”, of a person, is someone who is ordinarily understood to be or to have been connected to the person by blood or marriage.

Example of subsection (2)—

A person’s spouse, child (including an individual 18 years or over), stepchild, parent, step-parent, sibling, grandparent, aunt, nephew, cousin, half-brother, mother-in-law or aunt-in-law is the person’s relative.

(3) For deciding if someone is related by marriage, any 2 persons who are or were spouses of each other are considered to be or to have been married to each other.

(4) A “relative” of a person (the “relevant person”) is also either of the following persons if it is or was reasonable to regard the person as a relative especially considering that for some people the concept of a relative may be wider than is ordinarily understood—

- (a) a person whom the relevant person regards or regarded as a relative;
- (b) a person who regards or regarded himself or herself as a relative of the relevant person.

Examples of people who may have a wider concept of a relative—

- 1. Aboriginal people.
- 2. Torres Strait Islanders.
- 3. Members of certain communities with non-English speaking backgrounds.
- 4. People with particular religious beliefs.

(5) In deciding if a person is a relative of someone else—

- (a) a subsection of this section must not be used to limit another subsection of this section; and
- (b) each subsection is to have effect even though, as a result, a person may be considered to be a relative who would not ordinarily be understood to be a relative.

12C What is an informal care relationship

(1) An “informal care relationship” exists between 2 persons if a person is or was dependent on another person (a “carer”) who helps the person in an activity of daily living (“personal care activity”).

Examples of personal care activities a carer may perform—

1. Dressing or other personal grooming of the person.
2. Preparing the person’s meals or helping the person with eating meals.
3. Shopping for the person’s groceries.
4. Telephoning a specialist to make a medical appointment for the person.

(2) The personal care activity must be required, or have been required, because of a disability, illness or impairment relating to the person.

(3) A relationship in which the personal care activity is or was provided under an arrangement the person entered into with someone other than the carer is not an informal care relationship, whether or not a fee is or was paid for the care.

Example for subsection (3)—

The relationship between a person and a nurse who visits the person each day to help with bathing and physiotherapy is not an informal care relationship if the nurse visits under an arrangement between the person and a community based in-home care entity.

(4) If the person entered into an arrangement with the carer and a fee is or was paid, or is to be paid, to or at the discretion of the carer under the arrangement for the personal care activity, the relationship existing between the persons is not an informal care relationship unless it is alleged that the circumstances relating to the arrangement or fee include an act mentioned in section 11(1)(a) to (e).⁴

The relationship that exists between a person and the person’s carer is an informal care relationship if the carer demanded the proceeds of the person’s pension or superannuation cheque and threatened to injure the person unless the proceeds were paid.

(5) However, an informal care relationship can not exist between a child and a parent of the child.

(6) In this section—

“fee” does not include—

4 Section 11 (What is domestic violence)

- (a) a pension or allowance in the carer's own name from the Commonwealth Government for providing care to a person; or
- (b) an amount of money paid to a carer for goods purchased for the person that does not exceed the purchase price of the goods.

Example of paragraph (b)—

A friend of a person who has had a stroke may call on the person at the person's home every second day and bring fresh milk and bread and be given the price of the items.

“parent”, of a child, see Child Protection Act 1999, section 11.⁵

12D Children as applicants and respondents generally

(1) Subject to this section, a person who is a child may be named as the aggrieved or the respondent in a domestic violence order.

(2) However, the child may be named as the aggrieved or the respondent only if a spousal relationship, intimate personal relationship or informal care relationship exists between the child and the other party named in the domestic violence order.

(3) Subsection (2) does not limit the interstate orders that may be registered under part 3, division 3.⁶

(4) If the child is under 16 years, a person responsible for giving a document to the child—

- (a) must also give a copy of the document to a parent of the child; and

⁵ Child Protection Act 1999—

11 Who is a “parent”

(1) A “parent” of a child is the child's mother, father or someone else (other than the chief executive) having or exercising parental responsibility for the child.

(2) However, a person standing in the place of a parent of a child on a temporary basis is not a parent of the child.

(3) A parent of an Aboriginal child includes a person who, under Aboriginal tradition, is regarded as a parent of the child.

(4) A parent of a Torres Strait Islander child includes a person who, under Island custom, is regarded as a parent of the child.

(5) A reference in this Act to the parents of a child or to 1 of the parents of a child is, if the child has only 1 parent, a reference to the parent.

⁶ Part 3, division 3 (Registration of interstate orders)

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (b) must not give the document to the child at or in the vicinity of the child's school, unless there is no other place where service may be reasonably effected.

(5) If the child is at least 16 years, a person responsible for giving a document to the child—

- (a) must not give a copy of the document to a parent of the child unless the court orders it to be given to the parent; and
- (b) must give the document to the child as discreetly as practicable.

(6) To the extent that subsection (4) or (5) is inconsistent with section 85,⁷ that subsection prevails.

(7) In this section—

“other party”, in a domestic violence order, means—

- (a) in relation to an aggrieved—the respondent or any 1 of the respondents named in the domestic violence order; or
- (b) in relation to a respondent—the aggrieved named in the domestic violence order.

“parent”, of a child, see the Child Protection Act 1999, section 11.

12E Child who is a party but is not represented

(1) This section applies to a child who—

- (a) is named in an application for a protection order as the aggrieved; and
- (b) appears before a court and is not represented by a lawyer or helped by a police officer or authorised person.

(2) Also, this section applies to a child who—

- (a) is named in an application for a protection order as the respondent; and
- (b) appears before a court and is not represented by a lawyer.

(3) The court may adjourn the hearing of the application unless it is satisfied the child—

⁷ Section 85 (Service etc. of documents)

- (a) has had reasonable opportunity to obtain representation by a lawyer; and
- (b) has decided not to be represented by a lawyer.

12F Who is an aggrieved and who is a respondent

(1) An “aggrieved” means the person for whose benefit a domestic violence order is in force or may be made under this Act.

(2) Only 1 person may be named as the aggrieved in an application for a protection order or in the domestic violence order.

(3) A “respondent” means a person against whom a domestic violence order is in force, is sought or may be sought, under this Act.

(4) More than 1 person may be named as the respondent in an application for a protection order or in the domestic violence order.

13 What assistance can a court give to prevent domestic violence?

(1) A court can make a domestic violence order for the benefit of an aggrieved.

(2) A “domestic violence order” means—

- (a) a protection order; or
- (b) a temporary protection order.

(3) A “temporary protection order” is an order (made under part 3, division 2 or section 54⁸) for a short period until a court decides whether to make a protection order for the benefit of an aggrieved.

(4) Sometimes, the court can make a domestic violence order even though the person against whom the order is made—

- (a) is not notified about the application; or
- (b) does not appear in court.

14 Who can apply for a protection order?

(1) An application for a protection order may be made only by—

8 Part 3, division 2 (Powers of court and magistrates to make temporary protection orders) or section 54 (Applications by telephone, facsimile etc.)

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (a) an aggrieved; or
- (b) an authorised person mentioned in subsection (2); or
- (c) a police officer mentioned in subsection (3); or
- (d) a person acting under another Act for the aggrieved as mentioned in subsection (4).

(2) An “authorised person” means—

- (a) an adult authorised in writing by an aggrieved to appear on behalf of the aggrieved;⁹ or
- (b) an adult whom the court believes is authorised by an aggrieved to appear on behalf of the aggrieved even though the authority is not in writing.

Example of paragraph (b)—

A 19 year old man has a physical disability that results in him not being able to sign an authority. He alleges his uncle has threatened physical harm to him. The man orally authorises his grandfather to apply for a protection order against the uncle. The court may believe the grandfather is authorised to appear on behalf of the man after hearing evidence about the authorisation.

(3) A police officer who—

- (a) has investigated a matter under section 67;¹⁰ and
- (b) has the reasonable beliefs mentioned in section 67(2);

may apply for a protection order.

(4) A person is acting under another Act for the aggrieved—

- (a) if the person is a guardian for a personal matter of the aggrieved, or an administrator for a financial matter of the aggrieved, under the Guardianship and Administration Act 2000; or
- (b) if the person is the adult guardian and considers the aggrieved does not have capacity to make an application for a protection order; or

⁹ See section 60(2)—

(2) If an authorised person has made an application under this Act to a court and the court decides the authorised person is not able to assist it, the application is taken to have been made by the aggrieved.

¹⁰ Section 67 (Police action relating to domestic violence)

- (c) if the person is appointed as the aggrieved's attorney under an enduring power of attorney under the Powers of Attorney Act 1998 and the person makes the application under the enduring power of attorney.

(5) If a person may make an application for a protection order, the person may make other applications or bring other proceedings under this Act in relation to a domestic violence order made because of the application.

14A Court to explain order to aggrieved or respondent before the court

(1) When an aggrieved or respondent is first personally before a court, the court must satisfy itself that the aggrieved or respondent understands—

- (a) the nature, purpose and legal implications of the application; and
- (b) the legal implications of the court making a domestic violence order because of the application.

(2) If a person's first presence before a court is at the time the court is about to make a domestic violence order, the court may comply with subsection (1) and section 50,¹¹ at the same time.

(3) Failure to comply with this section does not affect the validity of the domestic violence order.

15 Who can a domestic violence order protect?

(1) As well as the aggrieved, a relative or associate of the aggrieved may be protected by the domestic violence order.

(2) A relative or associate is protected by being specifically named in the domestic violence order under section 21(1).

(3) The specifically named relative or associate is called a “named person”.

(4) The name of the named person may be specified in the domestic violence order at the time it is made or at a later time.

(5) An “associate” means either of the following persons if it is reasonable to regard the person as an associate—

¹¹ Section 50 (Court to ensure respondents and aggrieveds understand domestic violence orders)

- (a) a person whom an aggrieved regards as an associate;
- (b) a person who regards himself or herself as an associate of the aggrieved.

Examples of persons who could be associates—

1. A person who works at the same place as the aggrieved.
2. A person who resides at the same place as the aggrieved.
3. A person who belongs to the same church, club or other type of association as the aggrieved.

16 When can a court make a domestic violence order?

(1) Firstly, an application for a protection order may be made to a Magistrates Court by any of the persons mentioned in section 14.

(2) Secondly, a police officer may apply to a magistrate for a temporary protection order under section 54.¹²

(3) Thirdly, if a person is before a Magistrates Court, the Childrens Court, the District Court or the Supreme Court for an offence involving domestic violence, the court may make a domestic violence order under section 30.

(4) Fourthly, if a person has obtained an order from another State, a Territory or New Zealand to protect himself or herself, the order may be registrable in Queensland under part 3, division 3.¹³

17 What are the conditions of a domestic violence order?

If a court makes a domestic violence order—

- (a) the respondent must be of good behaviour and must not commit acts of domestic violence or associated domestic violence; and
- (b) the respondent must comply with any other conditions imposed by the court and stated in the order.

12 Section 54 (Applications by telephone, facsimile etc.)

13 Part 3, division 3 (Registration of interstate orders)

17A What happens if circumstances change after domestic violence order is made?

If circumstances change after a domestic violence order is made, a person may, under section 51,¹⁴ apply for a variation or revocation of the order.

Example of change of circumstances—

A temporary protection order is made because of an application by a police officer under section 54. The aggrieved's place of residence is stated in the order as premises that the respondent is prohibited, by the order, from approaching within a stated distance of. If the aggrieved changes his or her place of residence, a variation of the temporary protection order may be sought under section 51.

18 What can happen if a respondent does not comply with an order

(1) If a respondent does not comply with a domestic violence order, including a registered interstate order, a police officer can charge the respondent with an offence.

(2) An aggrieved, named person or anyone else can complain to a police officer that the respondent is not complying with the order.

PART 3—DOMESTIC VIOLENCE ORDERS—POWERS OF COURT*Division 1—Powers of courts to make domestic violence orders20 Power of court to make order to protect person with a domestic relationship against domestic violence

(1) A court may make an order against a person for the benefit of someone else (the “other person”) if the court is satisfied that—

- (a) the person has committed an act of domestic violence against the other person and a domestic relationship exists between the 2 persons; and

14 Section 51 (Application for revocation or variation)

(b) the person—

(i) is likely to commit an act of domestic violence again; or

(ii) if the act of domestic violence was a threat—is likely to carry out the threat.

(2) A person who counsels or procures someone else to commit an act that, if done by the person, would be an act of domestic violence is taken to have committed the act.

(3) If an application for a protection order names more than 1 respondent, the court may make a domestic violence order or domestic violence orders naming 1, some or all of the respondents, as the court reasonably considers appropriate.

21 Power of court to make orders to protect relatives or associates of aggrieved against violence etc.

(1) The court may include the name of a relative or associate of an aggrieved in a domestic violence order made for the benefit of the aggrieved if the court is satisfied that the respondent has committed, or is likely to commit, any of the following acts against the relative or associate—

(a) wilful injury;

(b) wilful damage to property of the relative or associate;

(c) intimidation or harassment;

(d) a threat to commit an act mentioned in paragraphs (a) to (c).

(2) A person who counsels or procures someone else to commit an act that, if done by the person, would be an act of associated domestic violence is taken to have committed the act.

22 Protection order must include standard condition to be of good behaviour etc.

In making a domestic violence order, the court must impose a condition that the respondent—

(a) be of good behaviour towards the aggrieved and not commit domestic violence; and

- (b) be of good behaviour towards a named person in the order and not commit an act of associated domestic violence against the person.

23 Weapons Act to apply to respondents otherwise exempt

(1) This section applies to a person to whom, under the Weapons Act, section 2,¹⁵ that Act does not apply when the person—

- (a) possesses or uses a weapon as part of the person performing duties as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 2(1)(e); or
- (b) possesses or uses a weapon as part of the person undergoing a training course as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 2(1)(g); or
- (c) is actually engaged in the manufacture, assembly or handling of a weapon for or on behalf of the State, or another State or a Territory, as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 2(1)(h); or
- (d) is engaged in scientific or experimental work with a weapon under an authority granted by the Minister as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 2(1)(i); or
- (e) is actually engaged in the warehousing or transport under consignment of merchandise for or on behalf of a licensed dealer or an authority of a State as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 2(1)(l); or
- (f) is a person to whom the commissioner of the police service granted an exemption from provisions of the Weapons Act as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 2(1)(m); or
- (g) is an employee of a government service entity within the meaning of the Weapons Act, section 2(8), and the person's acquisition, possession or use of a weapon is part of performing functions as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 2(2).

(2) If the person is named as the respondent in a domestic violence order, the Weapons Act applies to the person for the duration of the order despite the Weapons Act, section 2.

(3) Despite subsection (2), if the respondent is not present in court when the court makes the domestic violence order, the respondent can not be convicted of an offence under the Weapons Act, because of the operation of subsection (2), for an act or omission that happened before a copy of the domestic violence order is served on the respondent.

¹⁵ Weapons Act, section 2 (Application of Act)

24 Matters relating to weapons

(1) Before making a domestic violence order, the court must ask about—

- (a) weapons licences or weapons in the respondent's possession; and
- (b) whether the respondent may access weapons as part of the respondent's employment; and
- (c) whether the respondent may be a person to whom the Weapons Act does not apply; and
- (d) both of the following if the respondent may access a weapon as part of the respondent's employment or because the Weapons Act does not apply to the respondent—
 - (i) the respondent's employer, including the employer's name and address;
 - (ii) the employment arrangements relating to the weapon that the respondent may access as part of the respondent's employment.

(2) After asking about matters under subsection (1), the court may include 1 or more of the following in the domestic violence order to the extent the court considers reasonable—

- (a) information about any weapons licences or weapons in the respondent's possession;
- (b) a statement that when the order is served on the person the Weapons Act applies to the person under section 23 of this Act, despite the Weapons Act, section 2;
- (c) information about weapons that the respondent had access to as part of the respondent's employment or because the Weapons Act, before the order was made, did not apply to the respondent.

(3) In this section—

“employment”, of a respondent, includes employment by a partnership in which the respondent is a partner.

25 Court may impose other conditions

(1) If a court was to have exercised a power under section 22 and did not do so, the court is taken to have done so.

Example—

If a court does not include in a domestic violence order the conditions mentioned in section 22, the order is taken to include the conditions.

(2) When a court makes or varies a domestic violence order, it may also impose conditions on the respondent that the court considers—

- (a) necessary in the circumstances; and
- (b) desirable in the interests of the aggrieved, any named person and the respondent.

(3) The conditions the court may impose on a respondent include, for example—

- (a) prohibiting stated behaviour of the respondent that would constitute an act of domestic violence against the aggrieved or an act of associated domestic violence against a named person; and
- (b) prohibiting the respondent from doing all or any of the following in relation to stated premises even though the respondent has a legal or equitable interest in the premises—
 - (i) remaining at the premises;
 - (ii) entering or attempting to enter the premises;
 - (iii) approaching within a stated distance of the premises; and
- (c) prohibiting the respondent from approaching, or attempting to approach, the aggrieved or a named person, including stating in the order a distance within which an approach is prohibited; and
- (d) prohibiting the respondent from contacting, attempting to contact or asking someone else to contact the aggrieved or a named person, including, for example, if the aggrieved or named person has taken shelter at a refuge; and
- (e) prohibiting the respondent from locating, attempting to locate or asking someone else to locate the aggrieved or a named person if the aggrieved's or named person's whereabouts are not known to the respondent; and

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (f) prohibiting stated conduct of the respondent towards a child of the aggrieved, including prohibiting the respondent's presence at or in a place associated with the child.

(4) In relation to property of the aggrieved, a condition may require the respondent—

- (a) to return the property to the aggrieved; or
- (b) to allow the aggrieved access to the property; or
- (c) to allow the aggrieved to recover the property; or
- (d) to do any act necessary or desirable to facilitate action mentioned in paragraphs (a) to (c).

(5) The following matters are to be of paramount importance to the court when it imposes conditions on the respondent—

- (a) the need to protect the aggrieved and any named persons;
- (b) the welfare of a child of the aggrieved.

(6) The court may also consider—

- (a) the accommodation needs of all persons affected by the proceedings; and
- (b) the order's effect on a child of the aggrieved; and
- (c) existing orders relating to guardianship or custody of, or access to, a child of the aggrieved.

(7) A condition in an order that prohibits a respondent from asking someone else to contact or to locate an aggrieved or a named person does not prohibit the respondent asking—

- (a) someone else who is a lawyer to contact the aggrieved or named person; or
- (b) someone else, including a lawyer, to locate the aggrieved or named person for a purpose authorised by an Act.

25A Orders under s 25 that include ouster condition

(1) This section applies if a court makes an order under section 25 that includes an ouster condition.

(2) The premises that may be stated in an ouster condition of the order include—

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (a) premises where the aggrieved and respondent live together or previously lived together; and
- (b) premises where the aggrieved or a named person resides, works or frequents.

(3) In imposing the ouster condition, the court must consider including in the order another condition allowing the respondent—

- (a) if the respondent is no longer at the premises—to return to the premises to recover stated property; or
- (b) if the respondent is at the premises—to remain at the premises to remove stated property.

(4) For another condition under subsection (3), the court must state in the order—

- (a) if the respondent is present in court when the order is made—
 - (i) the time at which, without breaching the order, the respondent may return to the premises and then must leave the premises; or
 - (ii) for how long the respondent may, without breaching the order, continue to remain at the premises; or
- (b) if the respondent is not present in court when the order is made—
 - (i) the time at which, without breaching the order, the respondent may return to the premises and must leave the premises based on the time of service of the order on the respondent; or
 - (ii) for how long the respondent may, without breaching the order, remain at the premises based on the time of service of the order on the respondent.

Example for paragraph (b)(i)—

The respondent may, without breaching this order, return to the premises at noon on the day after the day this order is served on the respondent by a police officer. If the respondent chooses to return to the premises under the order, the respondent must leave the premises no later than 2 p.m. on the same day.

(5) Before the court makes an order that includes an ouster condition, or another condition under subsection (3), the court must consider each of the following—

- (a) the extent to which a matter mentioned in an order must be subject to the supervision of a police officer;
- (b) if a police officer is to supervise a matter, the need to include in the order a condition that the respondent must not approach within a stated distance of the stated premises.

26 Special condition for thing that has been used as a weapon

(1) This section applies if a court is satisfied that a respondent—

- (a) has used, or threatened to use, a thing in committing an act of domestic violence against the aggrieved, or an act of associated domestic violence against a named person; and
- (b) is likely to use the thing again or carry out the threat.

Examples of things—

1. An animal including a pet.
2. An antique firearm, crossbow or spear gun.
3. A cricket or baseball bat.

(2) The court may, as a condition of the domestic violence order, prohibit the respondent from possessing the thing, or a thing of the same type, for the duration of the order.

(3) If the court makes an order under subsection (2), the thing is taken to be a weapon and may be dealt with under this Act and the Weapons Act 1990 as a weapon for which there is no licence.

(4) The court's power under this section does not limit its power under section 25.

29 Domestic violence orders must include information about weapons

(1) The purpose of this section is to ensure that a police officer has as much information available as is possible when the officer exercises a power under an Act to obtain or seize a weapon.

(2) In making a domestic violence order, the court must specify as much information as it can about the weapons that the respondent possesses.

(3) In this section—

“weapon” includes a thing that a respondent is prohibited from possessing under section 26(2).

30 Power of court if person pleads or is found guilty of related offences

(1) A court before which a person pleads guilty to, or is found guilty of, an offence that involves domestic violence may, on its own initiative, make a domestic violence order against the offender, if the court is satisfied that a protection order could be made under section 20¹⁶ against the offender as the respondent.

(2) If a domestic violence order is already in force, the court—

- (a) must consider the order and whether, in the circumstances, the order needs to be varied, including, for example, by varying the date the order ends; and
- (b) may vary the order if the court considers the order needs to be varied.

(3) This section applies whether or not the court makes another order in respect of the offender.

31 Court may inform other entities about matters of concern

(1) This section applies if—

- (a) a court makes a domestic violence order; and
- (b) the court considers there was domestic violence or associated domestic violence involving an adult with impaired capacity; and
- (c) the court considers that because of the circumstances involving, or the nature of, the domestic violence or associated domestic violence the adult guardian should be informed about the violence.

(2) The court may inform the adult guardian, in writing, about the circumstances involving, or the nature of, the domestic violence or associated domestic violence.

16 Section 20 (Power of court to make order to protect person with a domestic relationship against domestic violence)

33 Court may make domestic violence order by consent

(1) A court may make a domestic violence order in a form agreed to by, or on behalf of, the aggrieved and the respondent.

(2) The order may only include matters that may be dealt with under this Act.

(3) This section is subject to section 60.¹⁷

34 Start of domestic violence orders

A domestic violence order takes effect—

- (a) on the day it is made; or
- (b) if it is made while an existing domestic violence order against the respondent for the benefit of the same aggrieved is in force—at the end of the existing order.

34A Duration of protection orders

(1) Subject to subsection (2), a court may order that a protection order continues for a period no longer than 2 years.

(2) If the court is satisfied that there are special reasons for doing so, the court may order that a protection order continues for a period longer than 2 years.

(3) A protection order continues in force for the period ordered by the court and stated in the order unless it is revoked at an earlier time or the period of the order is varied.

34B Duration of temporary protection orders

(1) A temporary protection order continues in force until the first of the following happens—

- (a) the order is returnable before a court unless the court extends the order;
- (b) the order is revoked by the court.

(2) Subsection (3) applies if—

¹⁷ Section 60 (Police officer or authorised person may represent aggrieved)

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (a) a temporary protection order is made and has not been revoked by a court; and
- (b) a court makes a relevant protection order relating to the temporary protection order on the day the temporary protection order is returnable before the court.

(3) If the respondent is not before the court when the court makes the relevant protection order, despite subsection (1)(a), the court may order that the temporary protection order continues in force until the respondent is served with the relevant protection order.

(4) The temporary protection order continued in force under subsection (3) is binding on the respondent even though it is not served on the respondent.

(5) To remove doubt, it is declared that a court may find the respondent contravened—

- (a) the temporary protection order continued in force under subsection (3); and
- (b) the relevant protection order relating to the temporary protection order to the extent the respondent contravened a condition of the protection order about which a police officer told the respondent.

(6) In this section—

“relevant protection order”, relating to a temporary protection order, means the protection order made by a court on an application for a protection order, being the application that allowed a court to make the temporary protection order.

35 Variation of domestic violence order

(1) A court may vary a domestic violence order, including—

- (a) the conditions imposed by the domestic violence order under section 25 or 26; or
- (b) the period for which the domestic violence order continues in force.

(2) The application for a variation must be made while the domestic violence order is in force.

(3) The court may vary a domestic violence order—

- (a) on an application to vary it; or

- (b) on an application to revoke it; or
 - (c) on its own initiative under section 30; or
 - (d) when dealing with a contravention of the order.
- (4) Before a court varies a domestic violence order, it must consider—
- (a) the grounds set out in the application for the protection order; and
 - (b) the findings of the court that made the domestic violence order.

36 Revocation of orders

(1) A court may revoke a domestic violence order if an application for revocation is made to the court under section 51.¹⁸

- (2) In considering the application, the court must have regard to—
- (a) any expressed wishes of the aggrieved; and
 - (b) any current contact between the aggrieved and respondent; and
 - (c) whether any pressure has been applied, or threat has been made, to the aggrieved by the respondent or someone else for the respondent; and
 - (d) any other relevant matter.

(3) The court may only revoke the order if the court considers the safety of the aggrieved or a named person would not be compromised by the revocation.

(4) If the court refuses to revoke the order, the court may vary the order in a way it considers does not compromise the safety of the aggrieved and a named person.

(5) A revocation or variation under this section takes effect on the day it is made.

37 Commissioner must be given notices of applications to vary or revoke

A court must not make an order under section 35 or 36 unless it is satisfied that the commissioner has been given a copy of the application.

¹⁸ Section 51 (Application for revocation or variation)

38 Conferral of jurisdiction

(1) Jurisdiction is conferred on—

- (a) every Magistrates Court and magistrate to hear and determine all applications made to it or the magistrate under this Act; and
- (b) every other court before which a person pleads guilty to, or is found guilty of, an offence that involves domestic violence.

(2) To remove doubt, it is declared that—

- (a) for proceedings under this Act before a Magistrates Court or magistrate—the provisions of the Justices Act 1886 apply to the proceedings unless the application of that Act is inconsistent with this Act; and
- (b) for proceedings under this Act in the Childrens Court constituted by a Childrens Court magistrate—
 - (i) the provisions of the Justices Act 1886 apply to the proceedings unless the application of that Act is inconsistent with this Act or the Childrens Court Act 1992; and
 - (ii) the provisions of the Childrens Court Act 1992 apply to the proceedings unless the application of that Act is inconsistent with this Act.

(3) Subsection (4) applies if—

- (a) an application for a protection order, or variation of a protection order, is made to a Magistrates Court; and
- (b) an application is made under section 62A¹⁹ by the aggrieved or respondent in relation to a tenancy application.

(4) If the Magistrates Court considers it appropriate, it may exercise the powers and make orders that a small claims tribunal may exercise or make under—

- (a) the Small Claims Tribunals Act 1973 for a tenancy application; or
- (b) the Residential Tenancies Act 1994 for a tenancy application.

(5) An order of the Magistrates Court about the tenancy application is taken to have been made under the Small Claims Tribunals Act 1973 for the Residential Tenancies Act 1994.

19 Section 62A (Procedural provisions for tenancy application)

39 Court may summons person to attend

(1) A justice may, by notice given to a person, summons the person to attend the hearing of an application for a protection order at a time and place specified in the summons—

- (a) to give evidence; and
- (b) to produce any record in the person's possession and specified in the notice.

(2) A person served with a summons to attend as a witness must not fail, without reasonable excuse—

- (a) to attend as required by the summons; or
- (b) to attend from time to time in the course of the hearing as required by the court; or
- (c) to produce any record that the person was required to produce by the summons served on the person.

Maximum penalty—10 penalty units.

(3) A person attending as a witness at a hearing must not fail—

- (a) to be sworn or to make an affirmation; or
- (b) without reasonable excuse, to answer a question that the person is required to answer by the court.

Maximum penalty—10 penalty units.

(4) If a person served with a summons fails to attend as mentioned in subsection (2)(a) or (b), the court may order the issue of a warrant for the person to be taken into custody by a police officer and to be brought before the court.

(5) Any justice may issue a warrant for the purposes of subsection (4).

(6) Subsection (4) does not limit any other powers of the court.

39AA Court may set aside a summons

(1) A court may set aside a summons issued under section 39 if the court is satisfied there are sufficient grounds for setting the summons aside, including—

- (a) want of relevance; or
- (b) privilege; or

(c) oppressiveness.

(2) The court may act on the application of the person served with the summons or on its own initiative.

(3) If a court sets aside a summons under subsection (1), the court may make an order for costs for the benefit of the person on whom the summons was served.

Division 2—Powers of court and magistrates to make temporary protection orders

39A Act of domestic violence necessary before particular temporary protection orders made

(1) A court may make a temporary protection order against a respondent under this division, other than section 39D, only if it appears to the court, on application for a protection order, that an act of domestic violence has been committed against the aggrieved by the respondent.

(2) A temporary protection order under this division need only be supported by evidence the court considers sufficient and appropriate having regard to the temporary nature of the order.

39B Form of temporary protection orders

(1) A court may make a temporary protection order against a respondent in the same terms as a protection order.

(2) However, the temporary protection order must state the time and place at which the order is returnable before the court.

(3) A temporary protection order is a summons to the respondent directing the respondent to appear at the time and place at which the order is returnable.

39C Temporary protection order because of adjournment

A court may make a temporary protection order if the court adjourns—

- (a) the hearing of an application for the protection order, whether the court is hearing the application under section 48 or 49;²⁰ or
- (b) the matter of making a protection order on its own initiative as mentioned in section 53(1)(b).²¹

39D Court may make temporary protection order without proof of service in certain circumstances

A court may make a temporary protection order, or vary a domestic violence order, if—

- (a) an application is made for a protection order or for a variation of a domestic violence order; and
- (b) the court does not begin to hear, or has decided not to begin to hear, the application because the applicant has not satisfied the court that the respondent has been given a document mentioned in section 49(1)(a), (b) or (c), whether or not the respondent is present in court; and
- (c) it appears to the court—
 - (i) the aggrieved or a named person is in danger of personal injury; or
 - (ii) property of the aggrieved or a named person is in danger of substantial damage.

39E Temporary protection order when cross application made

(1) This section applies if—

- (a) an application (the “original application”) for a domestic violence order has been made and is before the court; and
- (b) the person named in the original application as the respondent applies for a domestic violence order (the “cross application”) and the aggrieved named in the original application is named in the cross application as the respondent; and
- (c) the cross application is made orally, or is made in writing but not served on the aggrieved named in the original application at least

20 Section 48 (Appearance of respondent) or 49 (Non-appearance of respondent)

21 Section 53 (Procedure if person found guilty etc. of related offence)

1 business day before the day of the hearing of the original application.

(2) If the cross application is made as mentioned in subsection (1)(c), the court must adjourn the hearing of the cross application and set a date by which the written cross application is to be served on the aggrieved named in the original application, unless that aggrieved consents to the court hearing the cross application before hearing the original application or together with the original application.

(3) The court may make a temporary protection order in relation to the cross application if—

- (a) the aggrieved named in the original application does not consent as mentioned in subsection (2); and
- (b) at least 1 of the following persons is in danger of personal injury, or the property of at least 1 of the following persons is in danger of substantial damage—
 - (i) the person for whose benefit the domestic violence order, based on the cross application, is sought;
 - (ii) another person who is sought to be protected by the domestic violence order based on the cross application.

39F Court may make temporary protection order when considering variation of domestic violence order

(1) A court may make a temporary protection order if—

- (a) it is hearing variation proceedings about a protection order or temporary protection order and adjourns the hearing; and
- (b) it appears to the court the temporary protection order is necessary to protect the aggrieved or a named person pending its decision in the variation proceedings.

(2) In this section—

“variation proceedings” means proceedings—

- (a) for an application for variation of a protection order or temporary protection order; or

- (b) for varying a protection order arising because the court is acting on its own initiative under section 30²² or when dealing with a contravention of the order.

39G Temporary protection order for application under s 54

(1) A magistrate to whom application is made under section 54²³ may make a temporary protection order against the respondent if it appears to the magistrate that because of distance, time or other circumstance of the case, it is not practicable to apply to a court for a protection order and for it to be heard and decided quickly.

(2) The temporary protection order under subsection (1) may be in the same terms as if the magistrate were then and there constituting a Magistrates Court.

39H Court may make temporary protection order relating to respondent being released from custody on conditions under s 71

A court may make a temporary protection order if—

- (a) a person is released from custody on conditions as mentioned in section 71(4);²⁴ and
- (b) the police officer who must, under section 72(2)(b),²⁵ make an application for a protection order against the person asks the court for a temporary protection order.

22 Section 30 (Power of court if person pleads or is found guilty of related offences)

23 Section 54 (Applications by telephone, facsimile etc.)

24 Section 71 (Police officer must apply for protection order etc.)

25 Section 72 (Duty of police officers to apply for protection order in certain circumstances)

Division 3—Registration of interstate orders40 Application to register interstate order in Queensland

(1) A person may apply to the clerk of a Magistrates Court for the registration of an interstate order.

(2) The application is to be made on the appropriate approved form.

41 Clerk to obtain copies of order and proof of service

(1) The clerk must be satisfied that—

- (a) the interstate order is in force by obtaining a certified copy of it; and
- (b) the order was served, or was taken to be served, on the person against whom it was made.

(2) The clerk must try to obtain the copy and proof quickly, for example, if a facsimile machine is available, the clerk must try to obtain them by facsimile.

42 Registration of interstate order

(1) This section applies if the clerk is satisfied about the matters mentioned in section 41(1).

(2) Subject to subsection (3), the clerk must register the interstate order.

(3) If—

- (a) the clerk believes it necessary to do so; or
- (b) the applicant asks the clerk to do so;

the clerk must refer the interstate order to the Magistrates Court for adaptation or modification.

(4) The court may vary the interstate order for the purposes of its registration by adapting or modifying it in a way that the court considers necessary or desirable for its effective operation in the State.

(5) The clerk must register the interstate order as varied.

(6) A registered interstate order is registered for the period during which the order, as originally made, is in force.

(7) A regulation may prescribe the way that the clerk is to register an interstate order.

43 Duty of clerk after order is registered

(1) No later than 2 business days after the registration of an interstate order, the clerk must give the applicant and the commissioner a certificate of the registration with a copy of the registered interstate order attached.

(2) Notice of the registration of an interstate order is not to be given to the person against whom the order was made unless the aggrieved has consented to the notice.

(3) The consent must be given in writing.

(4) The clerk may not ask the applicant for any fee, or reimbursement for any expenses incurred, under this division.

44 Effect of registration of interstate order

A registered interstate order—

- (a) has the same effect as a protection order made under division 1;²⁶ and
- (b) may be enforced against a person as if it were a protection order that had been made under division 1 and personally served on the person.

45 Variation etc. of registered interstate order

(1) An application may be made to a court for—

- (a) a variation of a registered interstate order as it applies in Queensland; or
- (b) a variation of the period during which a registered interstate order has effect in its operation in Queensland; or
- (c) the cancellation of the registration of an interstate order.

(2) Any of the following persons may apply to a court for an order under subsection (1)—

²⁶ Division 1 (Powers of courts to make domestic violence orders)

- (a) the person who applied for the registration of the interstate order;
- (b) a person for whose benefit the interstate order has been made;
- (c) a person against whom the interstate order has been made;
- (d) an authorised person;
- (e) a police officer.

(3) The court may determine the application—

- (a) by varying it as it applies in Queensland; or
- (b) by varying the period during which it has effect in its operation in Queensland; or
- (c) by cancelling the registration.

46 Applicant need not notify person against whom interstate order was made

(1) An applicant under this division need not give notice of—

- (a) an application for registration of an interstate order; or
- (b) an application for variation or revocation of a registered interstate order; to the person against whom the order was originally made.

(2) When an application for which notice has not been given comes before a court, the court—

- (a) may hear and determine the application in the absence of the person against whom the interstate order was originally made; and
- (b) must not refuse to hear and determine the application merely because the person against whom the interstate order was originally made has not been given notice of the application.

(3) A registered interstate order that is—

- (a) adapted or modified under section 42(4); or
- (b) varied under section 45;

is enforceable in Queensland without notice of the adaptation, modification or variation being given to the person against whom the interstate order was originally made.

(4) This section does not prevent an applicant giving notice of the application, or an order made because of the application, to the person against whom the interstate order was originally made.

Division 4—Relevant orders under Family Law Act 1975 (Cwlth) and Family Court Act 1997 (WA)

46A Definitions for div 4

In this division—

“family contact order” means—

- (a) a division 11 contact order within the meaning of the Family Law Act 1975 (Cwlth), part VII; or
- (b) a division 10 contact order within the meaning of the Family Court Act 1997 (WA), section 174.²⁷

“relevant family contact order” means a family contact order that relates to access—

- (a) between the aggrieved and a named person; or
- (b) between the respondent and either a child of the respondent or a child of the aggrieved.

46B Disclosure of existence of relevant family protection order

(1) A person who applies to a court for a domestic violence order, or for the revocation or variation of a domestic violence order, and is aware of either of the following must inform the court about the order or application—

- (a) a relevant family contact order;
- (b) a pending application for a relevant family contact order.

(2) However, the application is not invalid merely because the person does not inform the court about the order or application.

²⁷ The Family Law Act 1975 (Cwlth), part VII is about children. A division 11 contact order is made under division 11 and the purpose of that division is to deal with contact orders made under the division and orders made under certain State and Territory laws about family violence. The Western Australian legislation is similar to the Commonwealth Act.

46C Court to consider relevant family contact order etc.

(1) Before deciding about making, revoking or varying a domestic violence order, the court must—

- (a) consider whether contact between the aggrieved, or between the respondent, and any child of either of those persons is relevant to making, revoking or varying the order; and
- (b) have regard to any relevant family contact order, or pending application for a relevant family contact order, of which the court has been informed.

(2) However, a domestic violence order, or a revocation or variation of an order, is not invalid merely because the court does not comply with subsection (1).

PART 4—PROCEDURAL PROVISIONSDivision 1—Procedures to be followed by court on applications for protection orders47 Service of application on respondent may be accompanied by summons

(1) On application made for a protection order, a clerk of the court or a justice may, subject to subsections (2) and (3), issue a summons directing the respondent to appear at the time and place set out in the summons with a view to the respondent being heard on the matter.

(2) The clerk need not issue a summons under subsection (1) if the applicant asks the clerk to arrange for the application to be heard by the court for the purpose of the court making a temporary protection order.

(3) If the court refuses to make the temporary protection order and the applicant does not withdraw the application, the clerk must issue the summons.

(4) The clerk of the court must give 2 copies of the application and any summons to the police officer in charge of the police division in which the respondent ordinarily resides or was last known to reside.

(5) The officer must cause the application and any summons to be served on the respondent.

(6) If the applicant is not the aggrieved, the applicant must serve the aggrieved with a copy of the application and notice of the time and place that the application is to be heard.

(7) A justice may issue a summons under subsection (1) only if the justice knows that a Magistrates Court is sitting at the time and place that the justice specifies in the summons for when it is returnable.

48 Appearance of respondent

(1) This section applies if a respondent appears before the court that is to hear and determine the matter of an application for a protection order.

(2) The court—

- (a) may hear and determine the application; or
- (b) may adjourn the matter of the application (whether or not it makes a temporary protection order); or
- (c) subject to subsection (3), may dismiss the application.

(3) The court may not dismiss an application unless—

- (a) the applicant has not appeared and, if the applicant was a police officer, no other police officer or Crown prosecutor requests an adjournment; and
- (b) no other person eligible to apply appears.

(4) The dismissal of the application does not affect the right of the applicant to make a further application against the respondent.

(5) The appearance of the respondent is evidence that the respondent has been served.

49 Non-appearance of respondent

(1) This section applies if a respondent fails to appear before the court that is to hear and determine the matter of the application for a protection order and the court is satisfied that the respondent has been given the documents mentioned in any of the following paragraphs—

- (a) a copy of the application and any summons issued under section 47;

- (b) a copy of the application and the temporary protection order made because of the application;
 - (c) a copy of the application and a copy of the conditions on which the person was released from the watch-house under section 71²⁸ that set out the time and place for the hearing of the application.
- (2) The court may—
- (a) proceed to hear and determine the matter of the application in the absence of the respondent; or
 - (b) adjourn the matter of the application (whether or not it makes a temporary protection order); or
 - (c) subject to section 59(1),²⁹ order the issue of a warrant for the respondent to be taken into custody by a police officer and brought before the court.
- (3) Any justice may issue a warrant for the purposes of subsection (2)(c).

50 Court to ensure respondents and aggrieveds understand domestic violence orders

(1) If a person is before a court that is about to make a domestic violence order for which the person is the respondent, the court must ensure the respondent understands the following—

- (a) the purpose, terms and effect of the proposed order, including, for example, that—
 - (i) the order may be enforceable in other States, Territories and New Zealand without further notice to the respondent; and
 - (ii) if the respondent has a weapons licence, or is a body's representative as mentioned in the Weapons Act, section 10(3),³⁰ the licence or endorsement as the body's representative is dealt with by the Weapons Act, section 27A or 28A;³¹

28 Section 71 (Police officer must apply for protection order etc.)

29 Section 59 (Provisions concerning warrants)

30 Weapons Act, section 10 (Limitations on issue of licence)

31 Weapons Act, section 27A (Suspension of licence and related matters after temporary protection order is made) or 28A (Revocation or suspension of licence and related matters after protection order is made)

- (b) what may follow if the respondent does not comply with the terms of the proposed order;
- (c) that the respondent may apply for revocation or variation of the order.

(2) If a person is before a court that is about to make a domestic violence order for which the person is the aggrieved, the court must ensure the aggrieved understands the following—

- (a) the purpose, terms and effect of the proposed order, including, for example, that the order may be enforceable in other States, Territories and New Zealand;
- (b) that the aggrieved may apply for revocation or variation of the order.

(3) The process that a court adopts to ensure a respondent understands the matters mentioned in subsection (1), or an aggrieved understands the matters mentioned in subsection (2), may include using services of, or help from, other people to the extent the court considers appropriate.

Examples of services or help the court may consider appropriate—

1. The court may arrange for the clerk or a public service employee at the court, to explain the order to an aggrieved or respondent.
2. A local interpreter or the telephone interpreter service may be used to explain the order to an aggrieved or respondent.
3. Explanatory notes prepared for aggrieveds or respondents, including non-English speakers, may be given to an aggrieved or respondent.
4. The court may arrange with an Aboriginal local government, Torres Strait Islander local government, community justice group or group of elders for someone to explain the order to an aggrieved or respondent.

(4) Failure to comply with this section does not affect the validity of the domestic violence order.

51 Application for revocation or variation

(1) This section applies to an application for—

- (a) revocation of a domestic violence order; or
- (b) variation of a domestic violence order (including conditions imposed by the order).

(2) The application may be made to a court by—

- (a) the aggrieved; or

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (b) the respondent; or
- (c) an authorised person; or
- (d) a police officer who reasonably believes that it is for the benefit of the aggrieved and there is sufficient reason for taking the action.

(3) The application must be made on the approved form.

(4) Where an application under subsection (1) is made, the person who makes the application shall cause a copy of the application and a notification of the time and place at which the application is to be heard—

- (a) to be served on each person, being the aggrieved or the respondent, other than the person who makes the application; and
- (b) to be given to the commissioner.

(4A) The clerk must cause service to be effected by a police officer on the respondent, as required under subsection (4)(a), if the application—

- (a) is made by an aggrieved or named person; and
- (b) seeks a variation of the domestic violence order to extend the protection given to the aggrieved or named person, to extend the period or scope of the order or to add a condition to the order.

(5) If it appears to a court to which application is made under subsection (1) that it is not reasonably practicable to effect service on a particular person, the court may order that the copy of the application and the notification be served on that person by such means of substituted service as the court thinks fit.

(6) Where a person on whom is served a copy of the application and a notification required by subsection (4) to be served (including by way of substituted service ordered under subsection (5)) fails to appear at the time and place at which the application is to be heard, the court, upon proof of such service—

- (a) may hear and determine the matter of the application in the absence of that person; or
- (b) may adjourn the matter of the application; or
- (c) where that person is the respondent within the meaning of this Act, may, subject to section 59(1), order the issue of a warrant for the respondent to be taken into custody by a police officer and to be brought before the court.

(7) Any justice may issue a warrant for the purpose of subsection (6)(c).

52 Duty of clerk of court to give certain notices to commissioner

(1) The clerk of the court in which any of the following applications are made, or orders are granted, must give notice of the application or order to the commissioner—

- (a) an application for a protection order;
- (b) an application for a variation or revocation of such an order;
- (c) an application for—
 - (i) registration of an interstate order; or
 - (ii) variation or revocation of a registered interstate order;
- (d) an order made because of an application mentioned in paragraph (a), (b) or (c), including a temporary order.

(2) The clerk must give the notice before the end of 1 business day after the day the application is made or order is granted.

53 Procedure if person found guilty etc. of related offence

(1) A court exercising jurisdiction under section 30³²—

- (a) may make the protection order before the offender is discharged by the court or otherwise leaves the court subject to the offender being given a sufficient opportunity to present evidence and to prepare and present submissions about the making of a protection order; or
- (b) may adjourn the matter of making the protection order to a later fixed time and day and may, in the meantime, make a temporary protection order under section 39C(b).³³

(2) On the later day to which the matter has been adjourned, the court may receive evidence that is necessary or desirable to assist it on the matter.

32 Section 30 (Power of court if person pleads or is found guilty of related offences)

33 Section 39C (Temporary protection order because of adjournment)

(3) If the offender fails to appear at the later time and day to which the matter is adjourned, the court may—

- (a) determine to make a protection order against the offender in the offender's absence; or
- (b) adjourn the matter further; or
- (c) order, subject to section 59(1), the issue of a warrant for the offender to be taken into custody by a police officer and brought before the court.

(4) Any justice may issue a warrant for the purpose of subsection (3)(c).

Division 2—Police may apply for temporary protection order in certain circumstances

54 Applications by telephone, facsimile etc.

(1) A police officer may, by way of telephone, facsimile, telex, radio or other similar facility, apply under this section for a temporary protection order to a magistrate if—

- (a) the police officer may, under section 67(2),³⁴ make an application for a protection order, and believes that because of distance, time or other circumstances, it is not practicable for an application made to a court, or to be made to a court, to be heard and determined quickly; or
- (b) the police officer may, under section 71(2),³⁵ make an application under this section; or
- (c) the police officer must, under section 72(2),³⁶ make an application under this section.

(3) Before making the application, the police officer (if an application for a protection order has not already been made to a court) must prepare a form of application for a protection order under this section.

34 Section 67 (Police action relating to domestic violence)

35 Section 71 (Police officer must apply for protection order etc.)

36 Section 72 (Duty of police officers to apply for protection order in certain circumstances)

(4) The police officer must inform the magistrate of the particulars of the application.

(5) A magistrate with whom contact is made by a person claiming to be a police officer applying for a protection order under this section is entitled to presume that—

- (a) the person is who and what the person claims to be; and
- (b) the provisions of this section have been complied with.

(6) The form of application for a protection order completed under subsection (3) is to be filed in the office of the clerk of the court—

- (a) at the place where the order sought, when made, is to be returned; or
- (b) if such order is not made, would be returned were it made.

(7) On the filing of the form of application, an application for a protection order is taken to be made to the court at that place.

55 Duty of magistrate upon application under s 54

A magistrate to whom an application for a temporary protection order is made under section 54 shall reduce the particulars of the application, as conveyed by the applicant, to writing in or to the effect of the approved form, and—

- (a) if the magistrate makes the temporary protection order, shall—
 - (i) complete and sign the order; and
 - (ii) record on the order the factors that cause the magistrate to be satisfied that a protection order could properly be made by a court under section 20;³⁷ and
 - (iii) inform the applicant, by telephone, facsimile, telex, radio, or other similar facility, of the terms of the order and the time and place at which it is to be returned before a court; and
 - (iv) as soon as is practicable, cause the written particulars of the application as conveyed by the applicant and the order

³⁷ Section 20 (Power of court to make order to protect person with a domestic relationship against domestic violence)

- referred to in subparagraph (i) to be given to the clerk of the court at the place where the order is to be returned; and
- (v) cause a copy of the order referred to in subparagraph (i) to be given to the commissioner; or
- (b) if the magistrate refuses the temporary protection order, shall—
- (i) reduce to writing the reasons for the refusal; and
 - (ii) as soon as is practicable, cause the written particulars of the application as conveyed by the applicant and the written reasons for the refusal to be given to the clerk of the court at the place where there is filed an application for a protection order against the respondent.

56 Duty of police officer for s 54 order

(1) A police officer who obtains a temporary protection order under section 54 shall prepare 3 copies of the order, in or to the effect of the approved form, in the terms conveyed to the officer by the magistrate who made the order and shall specify therein—

- (a) the name of the magistrate who made the order; and
- (b) the date and time the order was made; and
- (c) the place and time at which the order is to be returned before a court; and
- (d) such other information as is prescribed.

(2) Of the copies prepared as required by subsection (1), 1 shall be served on the respondent together with a copy of the application in connection with which the temporary protection order was made (if such copy has not already been so served) and 1 shall be given to the aggrieved, in either case, as soon as is practicable.

57 Return date of temporary protection order

(1) A temporary protection order made because of an application under section 54 must specify the time and place at which the order is returnable before a court.

- (2) If—

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (a) the court before which the order is returnable is sitting within 30 days after the day on which the temporary protection order is made; and
- (b) a suitable hearing day is available within the period;

the day that the order is returnable must be a day within the period.

(3) If—

- (a) the court before which the order is returnable is not sitting within 30 days after the day on which the temporary protection order is made; or
- (b) there is not a suitable hearing day available within the period;

the day that the order is returnable must be the first suitable hearing day available after the end of the period.

Division 3—Other procedural provisions

58 Service of court orders

(1) This section applies if a court—

- (a) has made a domestic violence order; or
- (b) revokes a domestic violence order; or
- (c) varies a domestic violence order (including the conditions imposed by it).

(2) Subject to subsection (3), the clerk of the court must—

- (a) cause—
 - (i) a copy of the order; and
 - (ii) in the case of a temporary protection order, a copy of the application for a protection order to which the temporary protection order relates (if a copy has not already been served); to be given to the respondent; and

- (b) cause a copy of the order to be given to the aggrieved and each named person; and
- (c) cause a copy of the order to be given to the commissioner.

(3) Where an order referred to in subsection (1) is made in the absence of the respondent or the aggrieved or the clerk of the court has not caused a copy of the order to be served on the respondent or given to the aggrieved before the respondent or, as the case may be, aggrieved has departed the court precincts, the clerk shall—

- (a) in the case where a copy is to be served on the respondent, cause 2 copies of the order and, in the case where a copy of the application is to be served on the respondent, 2 copies of the application to be given to the officer in charge of the police division in which the respondent was last known to the clerk to ordinarily reside; or
- (b) in the case where a copy is to be given to the aggrieved, cause 1 copy of the order to be given to the officer in charge of the police division in which the aggrieved was last known to the clerk to ordinarily reside.

(4) The officer in charge of a police division who receives a copy or copies of an order or an application from the clerk of the court under subsection (3) must cause a copy of the order or, as the case requires, of the application to be served on the respondent or, as the case may be, given to the aggrieved as soon as is practicable.

59 Provisions concerning warrants

(1) A court shall not order the issue of a warrant under section 49(2)(c), 51(6)(c) or 53(3)(c) as a matter of course, but only where, in the circumstances of the case, the court believes it appropriate that the respondent or, as the case may be, offender, be heard.

(2) Where a person is taken into custody under a warrant issued under this Act the provisions of the Bail Act 1980 are applicable in respect of the person as if the person had been apprehended on a charge of an offence.

60 Police officer or authorised person may represent aggrieved

(1) A police officer or authorised person may appear, and act on behalf of, an aggrieved in a proceeding for any application under this Act, but must not agree to an order under section 33³⁸ without the specific approval of the aggrieved.

38 Section 33 (Court may make domestic violence order by consent)

(2) If an authorised person has made an application under this Act to a court and the court decides the authorised person is not able to assist it, the application is taken to have been made by the aggrieved.

61 Court may not award costs except if application malicious etc.

A court may not award costs on an application for—

- (a) a protection order; or
- (b) a revocation or variation of a domestic violence order (including a variation of conditions imposed by the order);

unless the court dismisses the application as malicious, deliberately false, frivolous or vexatious.

62 Concurrent and other proceedings

(1) Any application under this Act may be made, and a court or magistrate may, as authorised by this Act, dispose of the application notwithstanding that a person concerned in the application has been charged with an offence arising out of conduct on which the application is based.

(2) Subsection (3) applies if the person against whom—

- (a) a domestic violence order has been made; or
- (b) a court has refused to make a domestic violence order; or
- (d) proceedings are current in which a protection order is sought against the person; is charged with an offence mentioned in subsection (1).

(2A) Also, subsection (3) applies if the person is charged with an offence mentioned in subsection (1) and the court has done either of the following relating to a domestic violence order naming the person as the respondent—

- (a) revoked, or refused to revoke, the domestic violence order;
- (b) varied, or refused to vary, the domestic violence order, including the conditions imposed by the order.

(3) A reference to—

- (a) the making, or refusal to make, the order, or a revocation or variation; or
- (b) the existence of current proceedings mentioned in subsection (2)(d); or
- (c) the fact that evidence of a particular nature or content was given in—
 - (i) the proceedings in which the order, revocation or variation was made or refused; or
 - (ii) the current proceedings;

is inadmissible in the trial of the person for an offence arising out of conduct on which the application for the order, revocation, or variation, or relevant to the current proceedings, is based.

(4) To allay any doubt, it is declared that, subject to this section, an application, proceeding or order under this Act in relation to the conduct of the person does not affect any proceeding for an offence against the person arising out of the same conduct.

(5) The person may be punished for the offence mentioned in subsection (4) despite any order made against him or her under this Act.

62A Procedural provisions for tenancy application

(1) If there is an application for a protection order (a “protection application”), or an application relating to an existing protection order (also a “protection application”), a person may make an application under the Residential Tenancies Act 1994, section 150, 188 or 190,³⁹ to the Magistrates Court dealing with the protection application instead of a small claims tribunal.

(2) Subsection (3) applies if an aggrieved or respondent makes a tenancy application to a small claims tribunal and a protection application has been made or is made under this Act to a Magistrates Court.

(3) The court may, on application of either the aggrieved or respondent and if the court considers it appropriate, order the tenancy application be removed to the court despite the Small Claims Tribunals Act 1973, section 17.⁴⁰

³⁹ Residential Tenancies Act 1994, section 150 (Injury to spouse), 188 (Application by tenant’s spouse for termination for damage or injury) or 190 (Application for interim order about damage or injury)

(4) If a tenancy application is dealt with by a Magistrates Court under this section, the procedures applicable to the tenancy application are the procedures under the Small Claims Tribunals Act 1973.

(5) Subsection (4) is subject to the court giving directions, before, or at any time during, the hearing of the tenancy application, about the way in which the court may exercise the powers of a small claims tribunal for a tenancy application or the service of documents for the tenancy application.

(6) An applicant for any of the following must give written notice to the lessor named in the tenancy application about the application and any adjournment of it—

- (a) an application under the Residential Tenancies Act 1994, section 150, 188 or 190 that, under subsection (1), is made to a Magistrates Court dealing with a protection application, instead of a small claims tribunal;
- (b) an application under subsection (3) to a Magistrates Court to order a tenancy application to a small claims tribunal to be removed to the court.

PART 5—APPEALS

63 Appeals

(1) A person who is aggrieved by an order of a Magistrates Court or the Childrens Court constituted by a Childrens Court magistrate, or a decision of a magistrate—

- (a) to refuse an application for—
 - (i) a protection order; or
 - (ii) a revocation or variation of a domestic violence order (including a refusal to vary conditions imposed by the order); or

⁴⁰ Small Claims Tribunals Act 1973, section 17 (Exclusion of other jurisdictions)

- (b) to make a domestic violence order; or
- (c) to revoke or vary a domestic violence order (including a variation of the conditions imposed by the order);

may appeal to the District Court at or nearest to the place where the order or decision was made.

(2) A person who is aggrieved by a decision of the Childrens Court constituted by a District Court judge, the District Court or the Supreme Court under section 30⁴¹ may appeal the decision to the Court of Appeal.

(3) Any such appeal shall be instituted within 28 days after the day on which the order or decision is made or, where the order was made in the absence of the person who is thereby aggrieved, after the day on which a copy of the order is served on or given to that person.

64 Institution of appeal

(1) An appeal under section 63(1) must be instituted by—

- (a) lodging a notice of appeal in writing with the registrar of the District Court at the place where the appeal must be brought; and
- (b) serving a copy of the notice of appeal on each person, being the aggrieved or the respondent, other than the appellant and on the clerk of the court at the place at which is filed the application upon or in connection with which the order or decision was made; and
- (c) giving a copy of the notice of appeal to the commissioner.

(2) A notice of appeal—

- (a) shall specify with particularity the grounds of appeal and the facts that are relied upon; and
- (b) must be made on the approved form.

(3) If it appears to a District Court judge to whom application is made that it is not reasonably practicable to effect service on a particular person, the judge may order that service on that person be effected by such means of substituted service as the judge thinks fit.

41 Section 30 (Power of court if person pleads or is found guilty of related offences)

64A Commissioner has right to appear and be heard on appeal

The commissioner has a right to appear and be heard before the District Court on an appeal to the court under this part.

65 Nature of appeal

(1) An appeal under section 63(1) is by way of rehearing on the record and under the rules of court applying to the District Court or, in so far as those rules can not be applied to such appeals, in accordance with directions given by a District Court judge.

(2) An appeal against an order does not stay the operation of the order, but—

- (a) if the order was a temporary protection order made by a magistrate—a Magistrates Court; or
- (b) in any other case—the court that made the order;

may stay the operation of the order, or a condition imposed by the order, until the appeal is dealt with.

(3) Subsection (2) does not limit any other power to stay the operation of the order.

66 Decision on appeal

(1) If the District Court allows an appeal—

- (a) it may discharge or vary any order to which the appeal relates, as it considers appropriate; or
- (b) it may make such order or decision as it considers should have been made, and every such order or decision shall take effect on and from the day on which it is made.

(2) The provisions of parts 4 and 7 apply in relation to an order or decision of the District Court as if it were an order or decision of a Magistrates Court.

(3) A District Court judge may make such order as to costs of an appeal as the judge thinks proper.

(4) Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the District Court to hear and determine an appeal duly instituted to the court.

(5) The decision of the District Court upon an appeal shall be final and conclusive.

PART 6—POLICE FUNCTIONS AND POWERS

67 Police action relating to domestic violence

(1) If a police officer reasonably suspects a person is an aggrieved, it is the duty of the officer to investigate or cause to be investigated the complaint, report, or circumstance on which the officer's reasonable suspicion is based, until the officer is satisfied the suspicion is unfounded.

(2) If, after the investigation, the officer reasonably believes—

- (a) the person is an aggrieved; and
- (b) there is sufficient reason for the officer to take action;

the officer may—

- (c) apply for a protection order to protect the aggrieved; and
- (d) take other action that the officer is required or authorised to take by this Act.

69 Presence at domestic violence incident

(1) A police officer who has reasonable grounds for suspecting that an act of domestic violence has been committed and—

- (a) a person is in danger of personal injury by a respondent; or
- (b) a person's property is in danger of being damaged by a respondent; may take the respondent into custody using such force as is reasonable and necessary.

(2) The respondent taken into custody may be held in custody until the earliest of the following happens—

- (a) an application for a protection order naming the respondent is heard and decided under section 71(1);

- (b) a temporary protection order is made under section 39G;⁴²
- (c) an application for a protection order is completed, and arrangements are made with the watch-house manager, under section 71(3).

(3) If the watch-house manager reasonably believes it is necessary for arrangements to be made to safeguard the aggrieved but the respondent may no longer be held under subsection (2)—

- (a) the respondent may continue to be held in custody until the arrangements are completed; and
- (b) the watch-house manager must record the following in the register kept under section 70—
 - (i) the reasons for the belief; and
 - (ii) the time at which the respondent could no longer be held under subsection (2); and
 - (iii) the time at which arrangements to safeguard the aggrieved were completed; and
 - (iv) the time at which the respondent was released from custody.

(4) A respondent may not be held under subsection (2) or (3) for more than 4 hours from when the respondent is first taken into custody under subsection (1).

70 Duty of police officer who has taken a person into custody under s 69

(1) If a person is taken into custody under section 69(1), the police officer who took the person into custody must immediately deliver the person into the custody of a watch-house manager.

(2) As soon as possible after the person arrives at the watch-house, the watch-house manager must enter the person's particulars, as required under a regulation, in the register kept by the watch-house manager for the purpose.

(3) The police officer who took the person to the watch-house is responsible for confirming the particulars the watch-house manager has entered in the register.

42 Section 39G (Temporary protection order for application under s 54)

71 Police officer must apply for protection order etc.

(1) Subject to this section, if a police officer takes a person into custody under section 69(1), the officer must prepare an application for a protection order in which the person is named as the respondent and immediately bring the person before the court for the hearing and determination of the application if the person is still in custody.

(2) If—

- (a) it is not practicable to bring the person taken into custody before a court under subsection (1); and
- (b) the police officer believes that it is necessary to obtain a temporary protection order under section 54 against the person before the person is released; the police officer may make an application under section 54.

(3) If—

- (a) it is not practicable to bring the person taken into custody before a court under subsection (1); and
- (b) the police officer is not satisfied that it is necessary to make an application under section 54 against the person before the person is released;

the police officer must—

- (c) complete the application prepared under subsection (1); and
- (d) arrange with the watch-house manager for the person to be released from custody on such reasonable conditions as the watch-house manager considers appropriate, including prescribed conditions and a condition that sets out the details of the time and place of the hearing of the application.

(4) When the person is released from custody, the watch-house manager must give the person a copy of the application for the protection order and the conditions on which the person is released.

(5) Conditions on which a person is released from custody as mentioned in subsection (4) continue in force until—

- (a) a court determines whether or not to make a protection order against the person; or
- (b) a court determines whether or not to make a temporary protection order against the person; or

- (c) a magistrate determines whether or not to make a temporary protection order against the person on an application under section 54;

whichever happens first.

72 Duty of police officers to apply for protection order in certain circumstances

(1) This section applies if—

- (a) a person is released from custody on conditions as mentioned in section 71(4); and
- (b) it is unlikely that the matter of making a protection order or a temporary protection order against the person on or in connection with the application completed in relation to the person under section 71(3) will be determined quickly and, in any case, within 7 days after the day on which the person is released.

(2) The police officer who took the person into custody—

- (a) if the police officer is satisfied it is necessary to apply for a temporary protection order by way of telephone, facsimile, telex, radio or other similar facility—must make an application under section 54⁴³ against the person; or
- (b) otherwise—must make the application for the protection order and ask the court for a temporary protection order under section 39H.⁴⁴

75 Entry of registers

(1) If there is a failure to enter the particulars of a person taken into custody under section 69 in the register, the failure is evidence that—

- (a) the taking of the person into custody under that section was unlawful; and

43 Section 54 (Applications by telephone, facsimile etc.)

44 Section 39H (Court may make temporary protection order relating to respondent being released from custody on conditions under s 71)

- (b) the custody of that person by a police officer and at the watch-house was also unlawful.

(2) The register must be made available at all reasonable times to a person in respect of whose person action has been taken under authority conferred by section 69 or to another person authorised in writing by that person, to the extent that the register contains an entry or particulars relating to the person taken into custody.

(3) A failure to make the register available as required under subsection (2) is evidence that there is no entry in the register of particulars relating to that person.

(4) In this section—

“register” means the register mentioned in section 70(2).

78 Acting in aid of police powers

Where this Act confers authority on a police officer it is to be taken that this Act thereby confers a like authority and to a like extent on every other police officer who at the material time is acting in aid of that officer.

PART 7—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

80 Breach of order or conditions

(1) A respondent must not contravene a protection order, temporary protection order or any other order made under this Act, including a condition imposed by the order, if—

- (a) the respondent was present in court when the order was made; or
- (b) the respondent was served with a copy of the order; or
- (c) a police officer told the respondent about the existence of the order.

Maximum penalty—

- (a) if—

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (i) the respondent has previously been convicted on at least 2 different occasions of an offence against this subsection; and
 - (ii) at least 2 of those offences were committed not earlier than 3 years before the present offence was committed; 2 years imprisonment; or
- (b) otherwise—40 penalty units or 1 year’s imprisonment.

(2) However, a court may not find a respondent contravened an order merely because a police officer told the respondent about the existence of the order, unless the court is satisfied the police officer told the respondent about the condition that it is alleged the respondent contravened.

(3) It is not a defence in proceedings for an offence involving an interstate order that a person did not know the interstate order—

- (a) could be registered in Queensland; or
- (b) was registered in Queensland.

(4) A respondent who knowingly contravenes or fails to comply with the conditions on which the respondent is released from custody under section 71(3)(d), other than that the respondent appears before a court at a specified time and place, commits an offence against this Act and is liable to a penalty not exceeding 40 penalty units or 12 months imprisonment.

81 Courts to be closed

(1) A court hearing an application under this Act is not to be open to the public.

(2) However, the court may open the proceedings or part of the proceedings to the public or specific persons.

(3) An aggrieved is entitled to have an adult with the aggrieved throughout the proceedings to provide support and other help.

81A Child not to be witness or swear affidavit

(1) This section applies to a child, other than a child who is the aggrieved or respondent in the relevant proceedings under this Act.

- (2) Subject to an order of a court, a person must not—
 - (a) call a child as a witness in the proceedings; or

- (b) ask a child to remain in a court during the proceedings; or
- (c) ask a child to swear an affidavit for the proceedings.

(3) If a court orders a child may be called as a witness, the court must consider whether the child's evidence should be given by way of video or other electronic means and may make an order accordingly.

(4) A sworn affidavit of a child is not admissible in the proceedings unless the court ordered the child may be asked to swear the affidavit before the affidavit was sworn.

82 Restriction on publication of proceedings

(1) A person who publishes in a newspaper or periodical publication or who, by radio broadcast or television or otherwise by any means, disseminates to the public or to a section of the public—

- (a) (otherwise than by the display of a notice in the premises of a court) a notification of proceedings under or for the purposes of this Act, identified by reference to the names of the parties to the proceedings, that are to be dealt with by the court; or
- (b) any account of proceedings under or for the purposes of this Act before a court or a magistrate, or of any part of those proceedings, that identifies or is likely to identify—
 - (i) the aggrieved, a named person, the respondent, or the applicant or appellant (in either case other than a police officer); or
 - (ii) a witness in the proceedings (other than a police officer); or
 - (iii) a child concerned in the proceedings;

commits an offence against this Act, unless the court before which the proceedings are, are to be, or were held, or the magistrate before whom the proceedings are or were taken, expressly permits the publication or the publication is permitted under a regulation.

Maximum penalty—40 penalty units or 1 year's imprisonment.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) do not apply in relation to—

- (a) the publishing of any publication bona fide intended primarily for use by members of any profession, being—
 - (i) a separate volume or part of a series of law reports; or

- (ii) any other publication of a technical character; or
- (b) the publication or other dissemination of an account of proceedings or of any part of proceedings—
 - (i) to a person who is a member of a profession, in connection with the practice by that person of that profession or in the course of any form of professional training in which that person is involved; or
 - (ii) to a person who is a student, in connection with that person's studies.

(3) A person shall not be taken to have disseminated an account of any proceedings, or part of any proceedings, under or for the purposes of this Act to the public or a section of the public in respect of—

- (a) the communication by the person to persons concerned in proceedings in a court or to a police officer, of any transcript of evidence, or other document for use in connection with the proceedings; or
- (b) the communication by the person of any transcript of evidence or other document to—
 - (i) a body responsible for disciplining members of any profession; or
 - (ii) persons concerned in disciplinary proceedings against a member of any profession, being proceedings before a body responsible for disciplining members of the profession.

(4) In this section (other than in subsection (3)(b)(ii))—

“proceedings” includes an application made to a magistrate under section 54.⁴⁵

83 Prosecution of proceedings

(1) A prosecution for an offence against this Act shall be taken in a summary manner under the Justices Act 1886.

(2) A complaint for an offence against this Act shall be laid by a police officer, and, in the case of an offence defined in section 82, with the consent of the Minister first obtained.

⁴⁵ Section 54 (Applications by telephone, facsimile etc.)

84 Evidentiary provision

(1) In any proceeding with the view to giving effect to any provision of this Act a document purporting to be—

- (a) a copy of a protection order or a temporary protection order; or
- (b) a copy of an order revoking a protection order or a temporary protection order, or varying the prohibitions and restrictions imposed by a protection order or a temporary protection order; shall be evidence and, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, conclusive evidence of the making of the order and of the matters contained therein.

(2) In any proceeding with the view to—

- (a) making a protection order or a temporary protection order; or
- (b) revoking a protection order or a temporary protection order; or
- (c) varying the prohibitions and restrictions imposed by a protection order or a temporary protection order;

the court or magistrate may inform itself, himself or herself in such manner as it or the magistrate thinks fit and is not bound by the rules or practice as to evidence.

(3) The court or magistrate need not have the personal evidence of the aggrieved before making a domestic violence order.

85 Service etc. of documents

(1) A summons, order or other document to be served for the purposes of this Act may be served in the manner prescribed by the Justices Act 1886 with respect to service of summonses under that Act, and if it is so served, the provisions of that Act as to proof of service shall apply to proof of service for the purposes of this Act.

(2) A document to be given to any person for the purposes of this Act shall be taken to have been duly given if—

- (a) it is given to the person personally or to a person authorised by the person to whom it is directed to accept delivery of documents on the person's behalf, either generally or in a particular case; or
- (b) it is left at the place of residence or business of the person to whom it is directed last known to the person who gives it; or

- (c) it is sent by post to the place of residence or business of the person to whom it is directed last known to the person who gives it.

(3) A document shall be deemed to have been received by the person to whom it is directed—

- (a) where it has been given in the manner referred to in subsection (2)(a), on the day it is so given; or
- (b) where it has been given in the manner referred to in subsection (2)(b), on the day next following the day it is left at the place specified therein; or
- (c) where it has been given in the manner referred to in subsection (2)(c), unless the contrary is proved, at the time it would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

(4) A summons or warrant issued to cause a person to appear or to be brought before a Magistrates Court in connection with proceedings under this Act may be served or executed on a Sunday as on any other day.

86 Exclusion of right to compensation—liability at law

(1) No entitlement to compensation arises on account of the seizure, retention, forfeiture, destruction, sale or other disposal of any thing under this Act except that in the case of sale the owner of the thing, if the owner establishes claim, is entitled to the proceeds of sale after the expenses of sale have been met.

(2) A police officer shall incur no liability on account of any act done pursuant to this Act or any act done or omission made in good faith and without negligence for the purposes of this Act.

87 Approved forms

(1) The chief executive may approve forms for this Act.

(2) The clerk of each court is to ensure approved forms are available when asked for by a person.

(3) The approved form of a temporary protection order must include information, in a general way, about section 34B.⁴⁶

46 Section 34B (Duration of temporary protection orders)

89 Regulation-making power

(1) The Governor in Council may make regulations for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The regulations may prescribe, for example—

- (a) the orders made under the law of another State or a Territory that are similar to a domestic violence order; and
- (b) the form of the register to be kept by each clerk of a Magistrates Court for the registration of interstate orders; and
- (c) conditions to be accepted by a person before the person is released from custody under this Act; and
- (d) types of cases that may be published.

PART 8—TRANSITIONALDivision 1—Transitional provisions for Domestic Violence (Family Protection) Amendment Act 199290 Interpretation

In this division—

“commencement” means the commencement of this division.⁴⁷

“new Act” means this Act after the commencement.

“old Act” means this Act before the commencement.

91 Instruments, documents, decisions and orders to continue with certain changes

(1) This section applies to—

- (a) an instrument or document prepared under the old Act or filed with, or issued by, a Magistrates Court, magistrate or justice; or ⁴⁷ Division 1 commenced 28 May 1993 (see 1993 SL No. 151).

Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 1989

- (b) an order of a Magistrates Court, or a decision of a magistrate, made before the commencement.

(2) After the commencement, the instrument, document, decision or order continues to have the same effect under the new Act as it did under the old Act.

(3) However, a reference in the instrument, document, decision or order to—

- (a) an aggrieved person is taken to be a reference to an aggrieved spouse within the meaning of the new Act; and
- (b) a respondent is taken to be a reference to a respondent spouse within the meaning of the new Act; and
- (c) an interim protection order is taken to be a reference to a temporary protection order within the meaning of the new Act; and
- (d) prohibitions and restrictions is taken to be a reference to conditions imposed by the domestic violence order within the meaning of the new Act; and
- (e) firearm or other weapon is taken to be a reference to a weapon within the meaning of the new Act.

93 Higher courts may deal with pending matters

(1) This section applies to a person if, before the commencement, the person came before—

- (a) the District Court (other than under part 4 of the old Act); or
- (b) the Supreme Court;

for an offence that involved domestic violence under the old Act and the proceeding was pending at the time of the commencement.

(2) The court may, after the commencement, exercise its powers under section 30 of the new Act even though it could not have exercised the powers when the person first came before it.

94 Standard conditions not part of orders under old Act

(1) To allay any doubt, but subject to subsection (2), sections 22 and 23 of the new Act do not apply to a protection order or interim protection order made under the old Act.

(2) If a protection order or interim protection order under the old Act is varied after the commencement, the court must exercise its powers under sections 22, 23 or 28 in relation to the domestic violence order.

95 Disposal of weapons seized under old Act

(1) This section applies to a weapon seized under section 34 of the old Act that has not been returned to the owner, or forfeited to the Crown, before the commencement.

(2) After the commencement, the weapon is to be dealt with under section 76 of the new Act as if it had been seized under the new Act.

(3) For the purposes of dealing with the weapon under section 76(3) of the new Act, a reference in that subsection to—

- (a) a protection order is to include a protection order under the old Act; and
- (b) a temporary protection order is to include an interim protection order under the old Act; and
- (c) a condition is to include prohibitions and restrictions under the old Act.

Division 2—Transitional provisions for Domestic Violence (Family Protection) Amendment Act 199996 Temporary protection orders to continue to have effect

(1) This section applies to a temporary protection order made under section 31 or 32 before the commencement of this section that is in force immediately before the commencement.⁴⁸

⁴⁸ Section 96 commenced 12 May 2000 (see 2000 SL No. 85).

(2) Subject to subsection (3), the temporary protection order is taken to be made under part 3, division 2.⁴⁹

(3) Any express conditions of the temporary protection order continue to have effect.

Division 3—Transitional provisions for Domestic Violence Legislation Amendment Act 2002

97 Definitions for div 3

In this division—

“commencement” means the commencement of this section.⁵⁰

“new Act” means this Act as in force immediately after the commencement.

“old Act” means this Act as in force before the commencement.

98 New Act to the extent it relates to intimate personal, family or informal care relationships does not apply to domestic violence etc. committed only before the commencement

(1) This section applies to an application for a protection order that states the respondent committed domestic violence or associated domestic violence before the commencement.

(2) A court may only make a domestic violence order against the respondent if the court is satisfied—

- (a) the respondent was, at the time of the violence, a person who is or was a spouse of the aggrieved named in the application; or
- (b) the respondent committed domestic violence or associated domestic violence after the commencement.

49 Part 3, division 2 (Powers of court and magistrates to make temporary protection orders)

50 Section 97 commenced on 10 March 2003 (see 2003 SL No. 17).

99 Revocations and suspensions of weapons licence before commencement and retention of weapons for earning a livelihood

(1) If, before the commencement, a respondent's weapons licence is revoked or suspended or a respondent's name is removed from a weapons licence, under section 23 of the old Act—

- (a) the revocation, suspension or removal continues to have effect as if the Domestic Violence Legislation Amendment Act 2002 had not been passed; and
- (b) the old Act continues to apply to the revocation, suspension or removal.

(2) If, before the commencement, the Weapons Act applies to a respondent because of an order under section 23(6) of the old Act—

- (a) the Weapons Act continues to apply to a respondent as if the Domestic Violence Legislation Amendment Act 2002 had not been passed; and
- (b) the old Act continues to apply to the order.

(3) If, before the commencement, the court made an order, or purportedly made an order, under section 28(2) of the old Act (an “order”) and allowed a respondent's licence under the Weapons Act to continue—

- (a) the order is taken to have been validly made; and
- (b) for an order that has not ended before the commencement—
 - (i) the order continues to have effect as if the Domestic Violence Legislation Amendment Act 2002 had not been passed; and
 - (ii) the old Act continues to apply to the order, including, for example, the provisions of the old Act about the duration of the order.

(4) To the extent necessary for subsections (1), (2) and (3) to have effect, the Weapons Act did not and does not apply to the respondent.

(5) However when the order ends, the limitation on the application of the Weapons Act under subsection (4) relating to the respondent ends.

100 References to terms in old Act to be read as references in new Act

(1) A reference to an aggrieved spouse, aggrieved person or respondent spouse in a domestic violence order in force under this Act immediately before the commencement is to be read as an aggrieved, named person or respondent, under the new Act.

(2) A reference to an aggrieved spouse, aggrieved person or a respondent in an application for a protection order that may still be dealt with by a court after the commencement is to be dealt with as if the reference were to an aggrieved, a named person or a respondent.
