If an authorised reprint is dated earlier than an unauthorised version published before 1 July 2002, it means the legislation was not further amended and the reprint date is the commencement of the last amendment.

If the date of an authorised reprint is the same as the date shown for an unauthorised version previously published, it merely means that the unauthorised version was published before the authorised version. Also, any revised edition of the previously published unauthorised version will have the same date as that version.

Replacement reprint date If the date of an authorised reprint is the same as the date shown on another authorised reprint it means that one is the replacement of the other.

- (3) Another purpose of this regulation is to support the coming into effect of reform matters under chapter 3, part 1B of the Act in relation to transferring areas A to K.

Division 2 Making allocation methodology

6 Purpose of allocation methodology

The chief executive may make a methodology directed at ensuring the proper allocation of employees, assets, liabilities and property of any kind between the local governments of new and adjusted local government areas in relation to transferring areas (the allocation methodology).

7 When allocation methodology takes effect

- (1) The chief executive must notify the making of the allocation methodology by publishing the methodology on the department's website.
- (2) The allocation methodology takes effect—
 - (a) on the day the methodology is published on the department's website; or
 - (b) if a later day is stated in the allocation methodology—on the later day.

8 Notification of allocation methodology

The chief executive must, as soon as practicable after the allocation methodology or an amendment of the methodology takes effect, advise all responsible entities of the taking effect of the allocation methodology or the amendment of the methodology.

Division 3 Process after making of allocation methodology

9 Complying with allocation methodology

Each responsible entity must take all reasonable steps to comply with the allocation methodology.

10 Role of commission

The commission must make decisions as provided for under the allocation methodology.

11 Public notification of decisions

When the commission makes a decision in relation to an employee, asset, liability or property of any kind, it must publish the decision in the gazette.

[s 12]

12 When decisions take effect

- (2) The registrar of titles or other person responsible for keeping a register for dealings in assets or property of any kind must, if asked by a local government, record the transfer or the vesting of any asset or property under this section in the local government.

Division 4 Miscellaneous

13 Direction for the Act, s 159YQ

Part 3 Reform matters for particular transferring areas

Division 1 Preliminary

14 Application of pt 3

This part applies in relation to transferring areas A, B, C, D, E, F, G and H.

15 References to transferring and receiving local governments and local government areas

- (1) A new local government or an adjusted local government whose local government area includes a transferring area from the changeover day for the new or adjusted local government's local government area is called a receiving local government.
- (2) An existing local government whose local government area included a transferring area immediately before the changeover day for a receiving local government's local government area is called a transferring local government.
- (3) In a provision of this part about a receiving local government, a transferring local government and a transferring area, the receiving local government is the local government whose local government area includes, under chapter 3, part 1B of the Act, the transferring area that, immediately before the changeover day for the receiving local government's local government area, was part of the transferring local government's local government area.

Division 2 Role of receiving local governments

16 Receiving local government successor of transferring local government

- (1) Each receiving local government is, in all respects, the successor of each of its transferring local governments in relation to the transferring areas.
- (2) The other provisions of this part do not limit subsection (1).
- (3) However, nothing in this part is intended to affect the operation of section 12(1).

[s 17]

17 Receiving local government to take over particular functions and powers

- (1) This section applies in relation to a receiving local government if, under an Act—
 - (a) a local government may perform a function or exercise a power; and
 - (b) a transferring local government started to perform the function or exercise the power in relation to the transferring area, but did not finish performing the function or exercising the power, before the changeover day for the receiving local government's local government area.
- (2) The receiving local government may, from the changeover day for its local government area, continue to perform the function or exercise the power in relation to the transferring area.

Example—

If a person has, before the changeover day for a receiving local government's local government area, made an application under an Act to a transferring local government about land in the transferring area, the receiving local government may deal with the application from the changeover day for its local government area.

18 Receiving local government subject to particular obligations etc.

If a transferring local government is, immediately before the changeover day for a receiving local government's local government area, subject to a condition, duty, obligation, order or requirement in relation to a transferring area, the receiving local government is, from the changeover day, subject to the condition, duty, obligation, order or requirement.

[s 21]

- (2) However, the receiving local government may, by local law, apply a continuing local law to the whole of the receiving local government's local government area, with or without changes.
- (3) If the receiving local government applies a continuing local law to the whole of its local government area, any subordinate local law made under the local law also applies to the whole of the local government area.
