1 Short title

This regulation may be cited as the Domestic and Family Violence Protection Regulation 2012.

2 Commencement

This regulation commences on 17 September 2012.

3 Publication of certain information is permitted—Act, s 159(2)(g)

- (1) For section 159(2)(g) of the Act, the publication is permitted if the publication is of information that relates to a proceeding—
 - (a) that relates to a matter in the public domain; or
 - (b) in which the community has a legitimate interest.
- (2) For subsection (1)(a), a proceeding relates to a matter in the public domain if—
 - (a) a domestic violence order was made in the proceeding—
 - (i) against a person as a respondent; or
 - (ii) for the benefit of a person as the aggrieved, or a relative or associate of the aggrieved; and
 - (b) the person has later been convicted of an offence under another Act that was factually related to the domestic violence order.
- (3) For subsection (1)(b), the community has a legitimate interest in a proceeding if an incident happens in which—
 - (a) a respondent in the proceeding causes the death of, or injury to, the aggrieved or a named person in the proceeding and the incident results in the death of the respondent; or
 - (b) the aggrieved or a named person in the proceeding causes the death of, or injury to, a respondent in the proceeding and the incident results in the death of the aggrieved or the named person.

4 Registration of interstate order—Act, s 172(7)

- (1) For section 172(7) of the Act, the clerk of the court registers an interstate order by entering details of the order in a register kept by the clerk for registering interstate orders.
- (2) The clerk of the court must keep the register in a physical or electronic form.

5 Prescribed laws—Act, schedule, definition interstate order

For the definition interstate order in the schedule of the Act, each of the following is a prescribed law—
