‘Division 2—Community conferences	6
‘Subdivision 1—Establishment of process and generally applicable provisions	7 8
‘Object of division and explanation	9
‘18A.(1) The object of this division is to establish a community conference process for a child who admits committing an offence to a police officer or after a finding of guilt for an offence is made against the child before a court.	10 11 12 13
‘(2) The process allows the child, a victim of the offence and the community to consider or deal with the offence in a way benefiting all concerned.	14 15 16
‘(3) The process involves the following steps—	17
(a) a police officer or court refers the offence to a community conference;	18 19
(b) a community conference convenor convenes a conference between the child and other concerned persons (see section 18D ¹¹);	20 21 22
(c) at the conference the offence is discussed and an agreement made on what must be done because of the offence.	23 24

 - (iii) to influence the way in which the conference deals with the 16
offence; and 17
 - (v) to encourage the child’s sense of responsibility; and 18
 - (c) the community may benefit by— 19
 - (i) fewer offences being committed because of effective early 20 intervention by the community; and 21
 - (ii) less public cost from unnecessary involvement of the courts’ 22
criminal justice system; and 23
 - (iii) increasing resolution of disputes within the community 24 without government intervention or legal proceedings. 25
- ‘(5) In deciding whether it is appropriate to refer an offence to a 26 community conference, a police officer or court must have regard to— 27
- (a) the offence’s nature; and 28
 - (b) the harm suffered by anyone because of the offence; and 29

- (c) whether the interests of the community and the child would be served by having the offence considered or dealt with in an informal way. 1
