Example for subsection (3)(b)—

The warrant may be issued for any motel in a stated area because the officer may have a reasonable belief that the relevant person may be in a motel in the area but not know in advance which one. The condition may be that the device may only be installed if the officer reasonably believes the person is likely to be in the place.

127 Duration and extension of surveillance warrants

(1) A surveillance warrant is in force until the earlier of the following—

- (a) the day stated in the warrant;
- (b) the day the investigation under the warrant ends.

(2) However, despite the investigation ending, the warrant continues in force until the day stated in the warrant if, as a result of using the surveillance device, evidence is gained of other major crime or misconduct.

(3) The warrant may be extended from time to time on application and the provisions of this division for an application for a warrant apply to an application for an extension, with necessary changes.

(4) Despite the ending of the warrant under subsection (1) or (2), the commission officer may continue to exercise powers under the warrant, but only to the extent necessary to remove the surveillance device to which the warrant relates.

⁵⁶ Section 124 (Issue of surveillance warrant)

128 Power under surveillance warrants

A commission officer to whom a surveillance warrant is directed may, subject to the warrant, lawfully exercise any of the following powers under the warrant (“surveillance powers”)—

- (b) without that person having been informed of the application.

133 Consideration of application

Before deciding an application for an approval, the judge must, in particular, and being mindful of the highly intrusive nature of using a surveillance device, consider the following—

- (a) the nature of the risk of serious injury to a person;

- (b) the extent to which issuing a surveillance warrant authorising the use of the surveillance device would have helped reduce or avoid the risk;
- (c) the extent to which commission officers or police officers could have used conventional ways of investigation to help reduce or avoid the risk;
- (d) how much the use of conventional ways of investigation could have helped reduce or avoid the risk;
- (e) how much the use of conventional ways of investigation would have prejudiced the safety of the person because of delay or for another reason;
- (f) any submissions made by a monitor.

134 Judge may approve emergency use of powers

(1) After considering the application, the judge may approve the application if satisfied there were reasonable grounds to believe—

- (a) there was a risk of serious injury to a person from major crime being investigated by the commission; and
- (b) using a surveillance device may have helped reduce the risk.

(2) Also, the judge may require the destruction of any recordings made that were not related to the purpose for which the surveillance device was used.

135 Use of evidence and information

(1) Evidence obtained because of the exercise of powers approved under section 134 is admissible in a proceeding for an offence.

(2) Also, information obtained under this division may be given to any person or organisation involved in helping prevent or reduce the risk of serious injury to a person.

(3) Subsection (2) does not apply to information from recordings ordered to be destroyed by a judge.

Division 4—Use of surveillance devices for a crime investigation under magistrates warrant

Before deciding an application for a surveillance warrant, the magistrate must, in particular, and being mindful of the highly intrusive nature of using a surveillance device, consider the following—

- (c) the benefits derived from the issue of any previous surveillance warrants in relation to the relevant person;
- (d) the extent to which commission officers investigating the major crime have used or can use conventional ways of investigation;

- (g) any submissions made by a monitor.

140 Issue of surveillance warrant

(2) However, despite the investigation ending, the warrant continues in force until it is stated to end if, as a result of using the surveillance device, evidence is gained of another major crime.

(3) The warrant may be extended from time to time on application and the provisions of this division for an application for a warrant apply to an application for an extension, with necessary changes.

(4) Despite the ending of the warrant under subsection (1) or (2), the commission officer may continue to exercise powers under the warrant, but only to the extent necessary to remove the surveillance device to which the warrant relates.
