PRACTICAL LEGAL TRAINING

COMPETENCY STANDARDS FOR ENTRY-LEVEL LAWYERS

Australasian Professional Legal Education Council

Law Admissions Consultative Committee

November 2000

PREFACE

The following Competency Standards for practical legal training for entry-level lawyers have been jointly developed by the Australasian Professional Legal Education Council (APLEC) and the Law Admissions Consultative Committee.

They seek to describe the observable performance required of entry-level lawyers at the point of admission to practise, in a number of key areas. The Competency Standards have been drafted in the light of both:

- National Competency Standards, Policy and Guidelines, National Training Board, Canberra 1991; and
- Heywood, Gonczi and Hager, A Guide to the Development of Competency Standards for Professions, Department of Employment, Education and Training, Canberra 1992.

It is in the interests of clients and the public that entry-level lawyers should only be admitted to practise – and subsequently licensed and held out to the public as legal practitioners – if they have acquired threshold competence to practise by completing appropriate academic and practical training.

Before they are admitted to practise they must have the knowledge, values, attitudes and skills required to practise law competently.

At the point of admission, each applicant will thus be expected to provide evidence that the applicant has achieved the requisite competence in the following Skills, Practice Areas and Values:

Skills	Practice areas	Values
Lawyer's Skills	Civil Litigation	Ethics and
Problem Solving	Practice	Professional
Work Management	Commercial and	Responsibility
and Business Skills	Corporate Practice
Trust and Office	Property Law Practice
Accounting	One of:
	Administrative Law
	Practice
	Criminal Law Practice
	Family Law Practice
	And one of:
	Consumer Law
	Practice
	Employment and Industrial Relations
	Practice
	Planning &
	Environmental Law
	Practice
	Wills and Estates
	Practice

The relevant Competency Standards for each Skill, Practice Area and Value are set out from page 32 onwards.⁴⁵

⁴⁵ Page 32 of the appendix corresponds to the next paragraph of these rules.

The Law Admissions Consultative Committee considers that:

- (a) every applicant seeking admission to practise should provide evidence that the applicant has attained the requisite competence required by the Standards, whether the applicant has completed a PLT Course, Articles of Clerkship, a Bar Admission Course or a combination of more than one of them;
- (b) an applicant should generally have undertaken the relevant practical legal training and demonstrated attainment of the requisite competence either in the final year of a law degree or after completing that degree, or a combination of both of them;
- (c) at whatever stage an applicant undertakes practical legal training, that training should be provided at a level equivalent to post-graduate training. It should build on the knowledge and understanding of the law, the legal system and of legal practice which a graduate should have acquired by the end of an undergraduate law degree;
- (d) diversity in the ways in which practical legal training is given should be encouraged, provided that the quality of that training is not compromised and remains the paramount consideration;
- (e) the training requires both programmed training and workplace experience. It requires an allocation of tuition hours and resources to curriculum which are appropriate as an equivalent of:
 - a program of academic study at graduate diploma level which incorporates at least 90 hours of workplace training; or
 - 12 months (1800 work hours) of closely supervised full time indenture as an articulated clerk incorporating at least 90 hours of programmed training; or
 - a non-award training course of at least 6 months (900 hours) in which at least 450 hours is programmed training and at least 90 hours is workplace experience.

“programmed training” means structured and supervised training activities, research and tasks with comprehensive assessment. When programmed training is delivered as distance training or in electronic form, it should be devised to require an input of time from an application of at least 450 hours.

“workplace experience” means supervised employment in a law or law related work environment or equivalent unpaid engagement in such an environment.

- (f) while the Competency Standards propose minimum requirements for entry-level lawyers, they are not intended to discourage either wider, or more detailed, Practical Legal Training;
- (g) the Competency Standards are designed, where possible, to allow:
 - (i) competence in one relevant area to be acquired in the course of acquiring competence in another relevant area; and
 - (ii) practical legal training to be given in flexible and innovative ways, where this is desirable.

It follows that an applicant need not acquire the requisite competence in any particular Skill, Practice Area or Value by undertaking training in any predetermined topic or area of practice;

- (h) an applicant’s competence in each Practice Area should be assessed in a way which allows the applicant also to demonstrate competence in relevant Skills and Values, at the same time;
- (i) those who teach in PLT Courses or who supervise the work of potential applicants for admission while they acquire competence in the relevant Practice Areas, Skills and Values, should either have substantial recent experience practising law, or comparable relevant qualifications or experience;
- (j) any program of practical legal training should:
 - (i) introduce a potential applicant for admission to Legal Aid and Pro Bono systems and schemes; and
 - (ii) include practical experience in the use of current information technology;
- (k) any course providing components of practical legal training to potential applicants, including Articles of Clerkship, should have formal means of assessing whether, and certifying that, an applicant has achieved the requisite level of competence in each relevant skill, practice area or value;
- (l) each Admitting Authority should:

- (i) require any course providing components of practical legal training to potential applicants (other than Articles of Clerkship) to be approved by it; and
- (ii) monitor the provision of practical legal training (including Articles of Clerkship) to satisfy itself that the training is of an appropriate quality.
