

Cremations Act 2003

Current as at 10 August 2012

Information about this reprint

This Act is reprinted as at 10 August 2012. The reprint shows the law as amended by all amendments that commenced on or before that day (Reprints Act 1992 s 5(c)).

The reprint includes a reference to the law by which each amendment was made—see list of legislation and list of annotations in endnotes. Also see list of legislation for any uncommenced amendments.

This page is specific to this reprint. See previous reprints for information about earlier changes made under the Reprints Act 1992. A table of reprints is included in the endnotes.

Also see endnotes for information about—

- when provisions commenced
- editorial changes made in earlier reprints.

Spelling

The spelling of certain words or phrases may be inconsistent in this reprint or with other reprints because of changes made in various editions of the Macquarie Dictionary (for example, in the dictionary, ‘lodgement’ has replaced ‘lodgment’). Variations of spelling will be updated in the next authorised reprint.

Dates shown on reprints

Reprints dated at last amendment All reprints produced on or after 1 July 2002, authorised (that is, hard copy) and unauthorised (that is, electronic), are dated as at the last date of amendment. Previously reprints were dated as at the date of publication. If an authorised reprint is dated earlier than an unauthorised version published before 1 July 2002, it means the legislation was not further amended and the reprint date is the commencement of the last amendment.

If the date of an authorised reprint is the same as the date shown for an unauthorised version previously published, it merely means that the unauthorised version was published before the authorised version. Also, any revised edition of the previously published unauthorised version will have the same date as that version.

Replacement reprint date If the date of an authorised reprint is the same as the date shown on another authorised reprint it means that one is the replacement of the other.

Cremations Act 2003

[as amended by all amendments that commenced on or before 10 August 2012]

An Act to regulate the process of cremating human remains

1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Cremations Act 2003.

2 Commencement

This Act commences on the day that the Coroners Act 2003 commences.

3 Definitions

The dictionary in the schedule defines particular words used in this Act.

4 Cremations this Act does not apply to

This Act does not apply to the cremation of—

- (a) human remains that have been buried for 1 year or more; or
- (b) parts of a human body taken during a medical procedure or autopsy; or
- (c) Aboriginal human remains as defined in the Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Act 2003 or Torres Strait Islander human remains as defined in the Torres Strait Islander Cultural Heritage Act 2003.

5 Permission required for cremation

A person must not cremate human remains unless the person has a permission to cremate the remains, in the approved form, that was issued by—

- (a) if an autopsy of the remains was conducted under the Coroners Act 1958 or Coroners Act 2003—the coroner who ordered the autopsy or, if that coroner is unavailable, another coroner; or
- (b) otherwise—an independent doctor.

Maximum penalty—140 penalty units.

6 Getting permission to cremate

- (1) The following persons may apply for a permission to cremate the human remains of a deceased person—

- (a) a close relative of the deceased person, either personally or through an agent;

Example of an agent—

A funeral director.

- (b) a personal representative of the deceased person, either personally or through an agent;

Editor's note—

Under the Acts Interpretation Act 1954, section 36, a personal representative of a deceased person is the deceased person's executor or administrator.

- (c) if no-one mentioned in paragraph (a) or (b) applies for a permission to cremate—another adult, either personally or through an agent, who has a satisfactory explanation as to why those persons did not apply and why the adult is applying.
- (2) The application must be made in the approved form.
 - (3) The way that an application may be sent to the coroner or independent doctor includes by fax or other electronic means.
 - (4) If the application is made to an independent doctor, the application must be accompanied by—

- (a) a copy of the cause of death certificate, and unless subsection (5) applies, a cremation risk certificate, issued for the deceased person; or
 - (b) a certificate that—
 - (i) authorises the release of the body; and
 - (ii) is given by a person who appears to the independent doctor, after appropriate inquiry, to be a coroner, or to hold a position equivalent to a coroner, at the place where the death happened.
- (5) For subsection (4)(a), the application need not be accompanied by a cremation risk certificate if—
- (a) the cause of death certificate is not a Queensland cause of death certificate; and
 - (b) a cremation risk certificate has not been issued for the deceased person.
- (6) A coroner may issue a permission to cremate, in the approved form, only if—
- (a) the coroner or another coroner has authorised the release of the body; and
 - (b) the coroner receives confirmation from the doctor who performed the autopsy that the doctor is reasonably satisfied the human remains do not pose a cremation risk.
- (7) Human remains pose a cremation risk if the remains contain something that, if cremated, might expose someone to the risk of death, injury or illness.
- Example of something that might expose someone to risk of death, injury or illness—*
- A cardiac pacemaker or radioactive implant.
- (8) An independent doctor may issue a permission to cremate, in the approved form, only if the doctor, after examining the human remains and making any necessary inquiries, is reasonably satisfied—
- (a) the human remains do not pose a cremation risk; and

- (b) the deceased person's death is not a reportable death under the Coroners Act 2003.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

- (9) The way that a permission to cremate may be sent to the applicant, or a person nominated by the applicant on the application, includes by fax or other electronic means.

7 Deceased person's wish to be cremated

- (1) This section applies if a deceased person's personal representative—
 - (a) is arranging for the disposal of the deceased person's human remains; and
 - (b) knows that the deceased person has left signed instructions for his or her human remains to be cremated.
- (2) The deceased person's personal representative must ensure that—
 - (a) an application for permission to cremate is made; and
 - (b) if the permission to cremate is issued, the deceased person is cremated in accordance with the signed instructions.
- (3) This section overrides the common law to the extent that it—
 - (a) allows a person to direct the person's personal representative to cremate the person's human remains; and
 - (b) qualifies a personal representative's right to decide how to dispose of the deceased person's human remains.

8 Objections to cremation

- (1) This section does not apply if the deceased person has left signed instructions that his or her human remains be cremated.

- (2) A coroner or independent doctor must not issue a permission to cremate if the coroner or independent doctor is aware that any of the following persons object to the cremation—
 - (a) a spouse, adult child or parent of the deceased person;
 - (b) a personal representative of the deceased person.
 - (3) The person in charge of a crematorium must not allow a deceased person's human remains to be cremated at the crematorium if the person in charge is aware that any of the following persons object to the cremation—
 - (a) a spouse, adult child or parent of the deceased person;
 - (b) a personal representative of the deceased person.Maximum penalty—100 penalty units.
 - (4) Subsection (3) applies even if the person in charge has received a permission to cremate.
 - (5) This section overrides the common law to the extent that it qualifies a personal representative's right to decide how to dispose of the deceased person's human remains.

9 Beneficiaries etc. not to issue permission to cremate

- (1) This section applies if a coroner or independent doctor reasonably suspects that the coroner or independent doctor, or the coroner's or independent doctor's spouse, may receive a benefit because of a person's death.
- (2) The coroner or independent doctor must not issue a permission to cremate the person's human remains.
Maximum penalty—120 penalty units.
- (3) In this section—

benefit—

 - (a) includes—
 - (i) a payment under a life insurance policy; and
 - (ii) property under a will; and
 - (iii) property under an intestate distribution; but

- (b) does not include fees payable for professional services.

10 Prohibiting cremation

- (1) The Attorney-General or a coroner may give the person in charge of a crematorium a written notice prohibiting the cremation of a deceased person's human remains.
- (2) The notice may prohibit the cremation—
 - (a) absolutely; or
 - (b) until any stated organs or other tissue have been removed from the remains and stored in the way stated in the notice.
- (3) The person in charge must comply with the notice unless the person has a reasonable excuse.

Maximum penalty for subsection (3)—140 penalty units.

11 Dealing with ashes

- (1) After a cremation, the person in charge of a crematorium—
 - (a) must label the ashes in accordance with the requirements prescribed under a regulation; and
 - (b) must not dispose of the ashes except in accordance with any reasonable written instructions of the applicant.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

- (2) However, the person in charge may bury the ashes in a burial ground if, within 1 year after the cremation, the applicant does not give reasonable written instructions for the disposal of the ashes.
- (3) Before burying the ashes, the person in charge must give the applicant at least 28 days written notice of intention to bury the ashes.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

- (4) The notice must be sent to the applicant at the applicant's address for service on the permission to cremate.

- (5) This section overrides the common law to the extent that it qualifies the personal representative's right to decide how to dispose of the deceased person's human remains.

12 Record keeping—coroner

- (1) This section applies if a coroner issues a permission to cremate.
- (2) The coroner must keep—
- (a) the application for permission to cremate, including any documents accompanying the application; and
 - (b) a copy of the permission to cremate.
- (3) The documents must be kept on the coroner's file relating to the investigation of the deceased person's death.
- (4) The chief executive may require a coroner to produce a document required to be kept under this section to the chief executive for inspection.
- (5) The coroner must comply with the requirement unless the coroner has a reasonable excuse.

13 Record keeping—independent doctor

- (1) This section applies if an independent doctor issues a permission to cremate.
- (2) The independent doctor must arrange for the application for permission to cremate, including any documents accompanying the application, to be given to the person in charge of the crematorium where the deceased person is cremated.

14 Record keeping—person in charge of crematorium

- (1) The person in charge of a crematorium must keep at the crematorium—
- (a) a record of particulars, prescribed under a regulation, of each cremation at the crematorium; and

Editor's note—

Under the Acts Interpretation Act 1954, section 36, a record includes information stored or recorded by means of a computer.

- (b) if, immediately before the commencement of this section, the person in charge was required, under the Coroners Act 1958, section 23F(3), to keep a register—the register and the information contained in the register.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

- (2) The person in charge may combine the record and the register required to be kept under subsection (1) into 1 document.
- (3) The person in charge must keep—
 - (a) if the permission to cremate was issued by an independent doctor—the application for permission to cremate, including any documents accompanying the application; and
 - (b) the permission to cremate; and
 - (c) if, immediately before the commencement of this section, the person in charge was required, under the Coroners Act 1958, section 23A(4), to keep a permission or certificate—the permission or certificate; for each cremation at the crematorium for 15 years after the cremation.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

- (4) The chief executive may require the person in charge to produce a document required to be kept under this section to the chief executive for inspection.
- (5) The person in charge must comply with the requirement unless the person in charge has a reasonable excuse.

Maximum penalty—100 penalty units.

15 Record keeping—former owner of crematorium

- (1) This section applies if, during the period that a document is required to be kept under section 14(3), the business carried on at the crematorium ceases.

- (2) The former owner of the crematorium must ask for the chief executive's directions about the document's storage.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

- (3) The chief executive must give the former owner written directions about the document's storage.

- (4) The former owner must comply with the chief executive's directions about the document's storage.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

- (5) The chief executive may require the former owner to produce a document required to be kept under this section to the chief executive for inspection.

- (6) The former owner must comply with the requirement unless the former owner has a reasonable excuse.

Maximum penalty for subsection (6)—100 penalty units.

16 False or misleading information

- (1) A person must not give information to a coroner or independent doctor that the person knows is false or misleading in a material particular.

Maximum penalty—80 penalty units.

Example—

A person must not falsely state that the person is the deceased person's spouse in an application for permission to cremate.

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to information given in a document, if the person when giving the document—
 - (a) informs the coroner or independent doctor, to the best of the person's ability, how the information is false or misleading; and
 - (b) if the person has, or can reasonably obtain, the correct information—gives the correct information.
- (3) It is enough for a complaint against a person for an offence against subsection (1) to state that the information was 'false or misleading', without specifying whether it was false or whether it was misleading.

18 Approval of forms

- (1) The chief executive may approve forms for use under this Act.
- (2) A person must not combine an approved form with advertising material.

Example—

An application for permission to cremate must not contain a business logo.

Maximum penalty for subsection (2)—40 penalty units.

19 Regulation-making power

- (1) The Governor in Council may make regulations under this Act.
- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), a regulation may—
 - (a) prescribe fees for this Act; or
 - (b) impose a penalty of not more than 20 penalty units for a contravention of a provision of a regulation.

20 Transitional provision

If an application for a permission and certificate to cremate was made before the commencement of this section, the Coroners Act 1958, sections 23A to 23G, continue to apply in relation to the cremation despite the repeal of those sections.

Schedule Dictionary

section 3
