Transport Operations (Marine Safety) Act 1994

An Act about marine safety and other matters

Part 1 Preliminary

Division 1 Introduction

1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Transport Operations (Marine Safety) Act 1994.

Division 2 Objectives of Act

3 Objectives of this Act

- (1) The overall primary objective of this Act is, consistent with the objectives of the Transport Planning and Coordination Act 1994, to provide a system that achieves an appropriate balance between—
 - (a) regulating the maritime industry to ensure marine safety; and
 - (b) enabling the effectiveness and efficiency of the Queensland maritime industry to be further developed.
- (2) In particular, the objectives of this Act are—
 - (a) to allow the Government to have a strategic overview of marine safety and related marine operational issues; and
 - (b) to establish a system under which—

[s 4]

- (i) marine safety and related marine operational issues can be effectively planned and efficiently managed; and
 - (ii) influence can be exercised over marine safety and related marine operational issues in a way that contributes to overall transport efficiency; and
 - (iii) account is taken of the need to provide adequate levels of safety with an appropriate balance between safety and cost.
- (3) These objectives are to be achieved for Queensland regulated ships mainly by—
 - (a) imposing general safety obligations to ensure seaworthiness and other aspects of marine safety; and
 - (b) allowing a general safety obligation to be discharged by complying with relevant standards or in other appropriate ways chosen by the person on whom the obligation is imposed.
- (4) In particular, a Queensland regulated ship may be taken to sufficiently comply with a general safety obligation even though a competent person has not issued a survey report for the ship.
- (5) A further objective of this Act is to manage the operation and activities of ships.
- (6) The objectives of the Act, and how they are achieved, are further explained in part 3.

Division 3 Interpretation and basic concepts

4 Dictionary

The dictionary in schedule 1 defines particular words used in this Act.

- (a) exercises, or purports to exercise, powers of the owner; and
 - (b) operates the ship or causes or allows it to be operated by someone else.

Example 1—

If a ship's owner lives outside Queensland, and the owner appoints an agent in Queensland to exercise the owner's powers and operate the ship, the agent is an owner of the ship.

Example 2—

If, under a charter, a person has exclusive possession of a ship and may operate the ship, the person is an owner of the ship.

Example 3—

If a bank becomes the mortgagee in possession of a ship and operates it, the bank is an owner of the ship.

10 Meaning of ship

- (1) A ship is any kind of boat or other vessel used, or intended to be used, in navigation by water or for any other purpose on water.
- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), a ship includes a boat or other vessel—
 - (a) whatever its size; and
 - (b) however it is propelled or moved; and
 - (c) whether it is on land or in water.

Division 4 Application of Act

11 General application of Act to ships

- (1) This Act applies to the following ships—

[s 12]

- (a) all ships connected with Queensland, wherever they may be, including while they are outside Queensland waters;
 - (b) all ships in a pilotage area or port;
 - (c) all ships on Queensland intrastate voyages, including while they are outside Queensland waters;
 - (d) all ships on interstate voyages while they are in Queensland waters;
 - (e) all ships on overseas voyages while they are in Queensland waters.
- (2) Subsection (1) is subject to this division.
- (3) For the purposes of this section, a ship is taken to be on a voyage from when it gets under way for the voyage until it gets under way for another voyage.

12 Relationship with Commonwealth Navigation Act generally

- (1) This Act does not apply to a ship to the extent that the Commonwealth Navigation Act applies to the ship.
- (2) However, if the Commonwealth Navigation Act provides that it does not apply to a matter if a State Act deals with the matter and this Act makes provision for the matter, this Act applies to the ship to the extent of the provision made for the matter.

13 Aids to navigation—relationship with Commonwealth Acts

This Act does not apply to an aid to navigation to the extent to which the Commonwealth Navigation Act or another Commonwealth Act applies to the aid to navigation.

14 Relationship with the national law

- (1) The national law applies to particular activities of, and matters relating to, domestic commercial vessels.
- (2) This Act does not apply to a domestic commercial vessel to the extent the national law applies to the vessel.

Note—

See the Marine Safety (Domestic Commercial Vessel) National Law Act 2012 (Cwlth), section 6(2) for circumstances in which a law of the State may apply in relation to domestic commercial vessels.

- (3) Generally, this Act expressly identifies a provision that does not apply to a domestic commercial vessel by stating the provision applies only to a Queensland regulated ship (which does not include a domestic commercial vessel).
- (4) However, the absence of a statement of a kind mentioned in subsection (3) does not limit the operation of subsection (2).

15 Section 11 subject to certain provisions

- (1) The provisions of this Act to which section 11 is subject include the following provisions—
 - section 54 (that deals with the application of part 5, division 1)
 - section 59A (that deals with the application of part 5, division 2)
 - section 61A (that deals with the application of part 5, division 3)
 - section 98 (that deals with the application of part 8)
 - section 187 (that deals with the application of part 14, division 2).
- (2) Section 11 is also subject to a regulation that expressly excludes the application of this section, in whole or in part.

16 Defence ships

- (1) This Act does not apply to a ship belonging to—

- (a) the Australian Defence Force; or
 - (b) the naval, military or air forces of a foreign country.
- (2) However, if the master of a ship mentioned in subsection (1) voluntarily uses the services of a pilot, the master and owner of the ship are liable for pilotage fees under this Act.

Division 5 Operation of Act

17 Act binds all persons

This Act binds all persons, including the State and, so far as the legislative power of the Parliament permits, the Commonwealth, the other States and the Territories.

18 Exemption of person or ship from Act

- (1) A regulation may exempt a person or ship from this Act or any of its provisions.
- (2) The exemption may be given on specified conditions.
- (3) If an exemption is given on conditions, the exemption operates only if the conditions are complied with.

18A Exempting of person or ship from regulatory provision

- (1) The general manager may exempt a person or ship from a provision of a regulation or a speed limit fixed under section 206A or 206AA (a regulatory provision).
- (2) The general manager must consider all relevant matters in deciding whether or not to give an exemption, including, for example, the following—
 - (a) whether the regulatory provision has been substantially complied with;
 - (b) whether compliance with the regulatory provision is unnecessary in the particular circumstances;

- (c) whether the action taken or proposed to be taken for the matter that is the subject of the exemption is as effective as, or more effective than, compliance with the regulatory provision.
- (3) However, the general manager may give an exemption only if the general manager is satisfied giving it will not adversely affect marine safety or the effectiveness and efficiency of the Queensland maritime industry.
- (4) If an exemption is given on conditions, the exemption operates only if the conditions are complied with.
- (5) The general manager must, as soon as is practicable after giving an exemption, give notice of it in the gazette.
- (6) The notice must state the following—
 - (a) the person or ship the exemption is given for;
 - (b) the regulatory provision from which the exemption is given;
 - (c) any conditions on which the exemption is given;
 - (d) any other details the general manager considers relevant.
- (7) The Statutory Instruments Act 1992, sections 24 to 26 apply to an exemption as if it were a regulation.
- (8) A regulation may regulate the giving of an exemption.
- (9) Also, if a provision of a regulation is repealed, a regulation may declare that—
 - (a) an exemption in force for the repealed provision, immediately before its repeal, is taken to be given for a provision of a regulation corresponding to the repealed provision; and
 - (b) for the purpose of a declaration under paragraph (a), a reference in the exemption to the repealed provision is taken to be a reference to the corresponding provision.

on the effectiveness and efficiency on the Queensland maritime industry.

- (3) Therefore, this Act establishes a system to achieve an appropriate balance between safety and cost.

30 What is the system established

- (1) Part 4, division 1 imposes general safety obligations for Queensland regulated ships on the following people in the maritime industry—
- (a) a competent person who issues a survey report for a ship;
 - (b) a ship's owner (including an operator);
 - (c) a ship's master and crew.
- (2) Part 4, division 2 imposes general safety obligations for all ships on the following people in the maritime industry—
- (a) a ship's pilot;
 - (b) the managing pilotage entity for a ship in a compulsory pilotage area.
- (3) These general safety obligations are generally intended to be performance based rather than prescriptive and to allow people to find more cost efficient ways of achieving safety.

31 What is a standard

- (1) Standards will help people to understand the general safety obligations for Queensland regulated ships in part 4, division 1.
- (2) Standards may deal with most matters about marine safety and issues affecting marine safety that may be dealt with by regulation, including, for example, the crewing and operation of Queensland regulated ships.
- (3) However, a standard may not prescribe offences, fees or charges.

[s 32]

- (4) Standards are made by the general manager and approved by the Governor in Council.
- (5) The general manager must go through a consultation process before a standard can be approved.
- (6) This consultation process allows people in the maritime industry to comment on a standard and make suggestions for changes, including changes that may result in a more effective and efficient maritime industry.

32 What happens if a person does not comply with a relevant standard

- (1) If a person does not comply with a relevant standard, this may establish noncompliance with a general safety obligation under section 40 or 41.
- (2) However, the court may be satisfied that the ship was safe even though the standard was not complied with.

Example—

If a ship owner or master operates a recreational ship that does not comply with a standard about the equipment the ship should be equipped with to achieve safety, the noncompliance with the standard may mean section 41 has been contravened. However, the ship owner may satisfy the court the ship was safe, despite noncompliance with the standard.

Note—

See section 42 for a fuller statement.

33 Role of survey reports in satisfying general safety obligations

A survey report issued by a competent person for a Queensland regulated ship may be used to establish that a general safety obligation under section 40 or 41 has been complied with in whole or part.

Note—

See section 42(3)(a).

34 What mechanisms ensure safety

There are various mechanisms in the Act to ensure safety, including, for example, the following—

- (a) certain key groups of people need to be licensed under the Act and will be regulated under the licensing system;
- (b) owners and masters of Queensland regulated ships are responsible for ensuring the ships are safe;
- (c) owners, masters, crew members and other persons involved with the operation of Queensland regulated ships are responsible for ensuring the ships are operated safely;
- (d) pilots who have the conduct of ships are responsible for ensuring the ships are operated safely;
- (e) Queensland regulated ships must have the required safety equipment;
- (f) some Queensland regulated ships need to be registered under this Act;
- (g) shipping inspectors are to be appointed and have the power to monitor ships to see if they are safe and are operated safely;
- (h) the general manager may require a shipping inspector to investigate a marine incident, or suspected marine incident, involving a Queensland regulated ship;
- (i) the chief executive or general manager may suspend or cancel an approval;
- (j) the maximum penalties are substantial if a person is found guilty of contravening the Act.

Note—

If a provision of this Act provides that the maximum penalty for an offence may be a fine or imprisonment, the court may impose both (Penalties and Sentences Act 1992, section 180A). If a body corporate is convicted of an offence against this Act, the court may impose a fine of 5 times the maximum fine that could be imposed on an individual (Penalties and Sentences Act 1992, section 181B). Thus, for example, the maximum fine that could be imposed on summary conviction on a body corporate ship owner for an offence against section 41 is 2,500 penalty units. If the contravention causes death or grievous bodily harm, the maximum fine on conviction on indictment is 25,000 penalty units.

35 How is safety in Queensland waters achieved

- (1) Some Queensland waters need to be controlled to ensure safety.
- (2) The Act, therefore, allows areas of Queensland waters to be declared as pilotage areas.
- (2A) The Act also allows a pilotage area, or part of a pilotage area, to be declared as a compulsory pilotage area.
- (3) Control in pilotage areas is achieved by requiring certain ships to use a pilot when the ship is entering, leaving or navigating within a compulsory pilotage area.
- (4) Control is also achieved by appointing harbour masters and authorising them to give directions about ships and their navigation.
- (5) Part 7 sets out the powers of harbour masters.

36 How are harbour masters and shipping inspectors accountable

- (1) In exercising a power, harbour masters are accountable to the general manager under the Public Sector Act 2022 and must comply with part 7.
- (2) In exercising a power, shipping inspectors are accountable to the general manager under the Public Sector Act 2022 and must comply with part 13.
- (3) Harbour masters and shipping inspectors are also subject to controls under other laws, including, for example, the Judicial Review Act 1991.

37 How is the chief executive accountable

The chief executive must report annually to Parliament through the Minister on the Act's operation.

38 Does the Act mention everything that will appear in the regulations and standards

The Act allows for matters to be provided by regulation or standard even though express reference may not be made to the matters in the Act.

Example—

Reference is made in the Act to the registration of a Queensland regulated ship, the amendment, renewal, or transfer of the registration of the ship or the exemption of the ship from registration. However, details about these matters are to be found in regulations or standards and not the Act.

39 Operation of part

This part does not limit, but may extend, the meaning of—

- (a) a provision of another part of this Act; or
- (b) a provision of a regulation or standard.

Example—

If a regulation provides for a matter and this part mentions the matter, this part cannot be used to limit, but may extend, the regulation making power or the regulation.

Part 4 General safety obligations

Division 1 General safety obligations for Queensland regulated ships

39A Application of div 1

This division applies only to Queensland regulated ships.

Note—

See the national law, part 3 for general safety duties relating to domestic commercial vessels.

40 General safety obligation of competent persons about condition of ships

- (1) A competent person who issues a survey report for a ship must ensure that each statement made in the report about the ship's seaworthiness is correct in every material particular.

Maximum penalty—500 penalty units or imprisonment for 1 year.

- (2) However, if—
- (a) a particular that was incorrectly declared in the survey report causes a marine incident; and
 - (b) the marine incident involves the death of, or grievous bodily harm to, a person;

the competent person commits an indictable offence and is liable to a maximum penalty of 5,000 penalty units or imprisonment for 2 years.

41 General safety obligation of ship owners and masters about condition of ships

- (1) The owner and master of a ship must not operate the ship unless the ship is safe.

Maximum penalty—500 penalty units or imprisonment for 1 year.

- (2) However, if the contravention of subsection (1) causes a marine incident involving the death of, or grievous bodily harm to, a person, the owner and master commit an indictable offence and are liable to a maximum penalty of 5,000 penalty units or imprisonment for 2 years.
- (3) For the purposes of this section, a ship is safe if it is seaworthy, and is appropriately equipped and crewed, to meet the ordinary perils of the voyage on which the ship is proceeding or about to proceed.

42 Relationship between regulatory provisions and general safety obligations for competent persons and ship owners and masters

(1) In this section—

general safety provision means section 40 or 41.

regulatory provision means a provision of a regulation or standard about the condition, equipping or crewing of ships.

(2) This section applies if—

- (a) it is claimed in a proceeding that a person contravened a general safety provision because of the condition of a ship or its equipping or crewing (the safety issue); and
- (b) a regulatory provision provided a way of dealing with the safety issue to achieve safety.

(3) If it is proved that the safety issue was not dealt with in the way provided by the regulatory provision, the general safety provision is taken to have been contravened unless the court is satisfied that—

- (a) to satisfy compliance with the general safety provision, it was reasonable for the person to rely on a survey report issued by a competent person, other than the person, that was in force for the ship and covered the safety issue (completely or partly); or
- (b) the general safety provision was complied with, despite noncompliance with the regulatory provision.

(4) In deciding whether the general safety provision had been complied with despite noncompliance with the regulatory provision, the court must have regard to the objectives of this Act.

43 General safety obligation on persons involved with operation of ship

- (1) A person involved with a ship's operation (including the owner, master and crew members) must not cause the ship to be operated unsafely.

Maximum penalty—500 penalty units or imprisonment for 1 year.

- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), a person causes a ship to be operated unsafely if the person causes the ship to be operated in a way that—

(a) causes a marine incident; or

(b) contravenes—

(i) a condition of the ship's registration under this Act that is about safety; or

(ii) a provision of a regulation that is declared by a regulation to be a provision to which this section applies.

- (3) However, if the contravention of subsection (1) causes the death of, or grievous bodily harm to, a person, the owner, master, crew member or other person commits an indictable offence and is liable to a maximum penalty of 5,000 penalty units or imprisonment for 2 years.

- (4) A person does not contravene this section because of subsection (2)(a) if the only basis for holding that a marine incident has been caused is lawful damage to, or danger of lawful damage to, property of which the person is the sole owner.

- (5) This section does not apply to a ship's pilot.

Note—

See section 45 for the obligation on pilots of ships.

- (6) In this section—

lawful damage means damage that is not unlawful under the Criminal Code, section 469.

44 Safety equipment obligation

- (1) The owner or master of a ship must not operate a ship if—
 - (a) the ship is required by a regulation to be equipped with safety equipment; and
 - (b) the ship is not equipped with the safety equipment.

Maximum penalty—500 penalty units or imprisonment for 1 year.

- (2) However, if the contravention of subsection (1) causes the death of, or grievous bodily harm to, a person, the owner or master commits an indictable offence and is liable to a maximum penalty of 5,000 penalty units or imprisonment for 2 years.

- (3) In this section—

safety equipment means equipment that is declared by a regulation to be safety equipment to which this section applies.

Division 2 Other general safety obligations

45 General safety obligation on pilot who has conduct of ship

- (1) A pilot who has the conduct of a ship must not cause the ship to be operated unsafely.

Maximum penalty—500 penalty units or imprisonment for 1 year.

- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), a pilot causes a ship to be operated unsafely if the pilot causes the ship to be operated in a way that—
 - (a) causes a marine incident; or
 - (b) contravenes—
 - (i) a condition of the ship's registration under this Act that is about safety; or

- (ii) a provision of a regulation that is declared by a regulation to be a provision to which this section applies.
- (3) However, if the contravention of subsection (1) causes the death of, or grievous bodily harm to, a person, the pilot commits an indictable offence and is liable to a maximum penalty of 5,000 penalty units or imprisonment for 2 years.

46 General safety obligation on managing pilotage entity

- (1) A managing pilotage entity for a compulsory pilotage area must not provide for the piloted movement of ships in the pilotage area in an unsafe way.
Maximum penalty—500 penalty units or imprisonment for 1 year.
- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), a managing pilotage entity causes the piloted movement of ships to be provided in an unsafe way if—
 - (a) the managing pilotage entity employs an individual as a pilot; and
 - (b) the individual is not appropriately licensed.
- (3) However, if the contravention of subsection (1) causes the death of, or grievous bodily harm to, a person, the managing pilotage entity commits an indictable offence and is liable to a maximum penalty of 5,000 penalty units or imprisonment for 2 years.

Part 5 Registration, licensing and permits

63AA Smartcard marine licence indicator is property of the State

- (1) A smartcard marine licence indicator is and remains the property of the State.
- (2) Subsection (1) applies even though a person other than the State—

- (4) An application mentioned in subsection (1)(a) or (2)(b) may be made by electronic communication.

Maximum penalty for subsection (4)—40 penalty units.

81 Proof of authority

- (1) A harbour master must display the harbour master's identity card for inspection by a person if the harbour master, in person, gives a direction to the person or exercises another power in relation to the person.

Division 2 Powers of harbour masters

Subdivision 1 Powers of direction

86 General limitation on harbour master's power to give directions under subdivision

- (1) A harbour master may give a direction under this subdivision only if the harbour master reasonably considers it necessary to give the direction to ensure safety.
- (2) In giving the direction, the harbour master must have regard to the need to ensure the effectiveness and efficiency of the Queensland maritime industry.

86A Direction may be general or particular

- (1) A direction under this subdivision may be given as a general direction or particular direction.
- (2) A general direction is a direction that—
 - (a) applies to all ship owners, ship masters, ships, other persons or matters; or
 - (b) is limited in its application to stated classes of ship owners, ship masters, ships, other persons or matters; or

- (c) otherwise applies generally or generally with stated exceptions or factors.
- (3) A general direction may—
 - (a) make different provision for different ship owners, ship masters, ships, other persons or matters, or different classes of ship owners, ship masters, ships, other persons or matters; or
 - (b) apply differently to stated exceptions or factors.
